PRESIDENT ENJOYS VISITS IN GEORGIA

Notable Banquet in His Honor at Charleston Last Night.

GUEST OF COLUMBIA TODAY

Pleased With Features Arranged by Savannah People—Witnessed a Serious Accident—Journey Through Southland.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 5.—Arriving here at dusk this evening President Taft had one of the most picturesque scenes of his trip. The head of a procession of automobiles escorted by an imposing array of military organization, he passed through the principal business streets of the city, under arches of electric lights that gave an illumination almost equal to day. The sidewalks held an immense throng and the President's progress from the union station to the home of Mayor Rhett, where he is spending the night, was marked by cheers. Mr. Taft is no stranger to Charleston. He has been here five times in recent years.

His reception tonight was a repetition of the cordial welcome the President had received elsewhere in the South.

Tonight he was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered to him by the city. It was arranged with especial regard to the President's comfort and the only set speeches were the introduction of the President by Mayor Rhett and the response by Mr. Taft, in which he expressed his gratification at being in Charleston, and his regret that he could not make a longer stay. The President leaves tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for Columbia and will reach Augusta, Ga., tomorrow night for a stay of two days.

Governor Ansel, Senators Tillman and Smith arrived in Charleston this afternoon to assist in the welcome to the President and were among the guests of honor at the banquet tonight. This is the first presidential reception in which Senator Tillman has participated in a good many years.

Until Mr. Taft was inaugurated, Mr. Tillman had not even been a caller at the White House for a long, long time.

On his arrival the President was escorted to Citadel Green, the old parade ground of the South Carolina Military Academy where the major portion of the military escort was drawn up At Mayor Rhett's residence, an informal reception was held before the banquet.

President Taft had a busy day in Savannah before leaving there at 2:30 P. M., for this city. During a morning sail down the river to Fort Screven he witnessed an accident in which it was thought at first two men had been killed. As it turned out, one man, a negro, lost his arm, and another his eye. The two men were firing a salute to the President from a small cannon drawn up at the water front. A premature explosion occurred as the negro was ramming home a charge of powder and in the cloud of smoke which followed the report of the cannon the President saw a man flying through the air. The man fell into the river. The ram rod which he had held shot across the bow of the revenue cutter Yamacraw on the deck of which the President was standing. Mr. Taft called attention to the accident at once. The man struggling in the water, was rescued, however, and the President later was relieved to find there had been no loss of life.

The river trip ended, the President participated in a parade through the streets and parks of Savannah during which he must have been greeted by practically the entire population of the city. He then went for a fast spin over the automobile course where the grand prize race of 400 miles was run last Fall. In many ways it was the most spectacular ride the President has ever had veteran automobilist that he is.

The average speed for the 25 miles was 40 miles an hour and has straightaway stretches the speed of the President's car was held up to 48 miles an hour. Returning to his train from luncheon at the Thunderbolt Casino the President made a short dash at the rate of 52 miles an hour. He made this speed over that portion of the course, however, where the grand prize cars averaged more than 100 miles an hour. The record for the 400 miles of that race was 65.5 miles an hour which stands as the American road record. The President was accompanied by Governor Joseph M. Brown, Mayor Tiedeman, of Savannah, and Captain Butt, and with his gray automobile cap pulled well down on his head, he seemed to enjoy the ride immensely. The chauffeur reduced speed but little in taking the sharply banked turns.

The automobile ride was interrupted to permit the President to stop for a few minutes at the Bethesday Orpha nHome, where he made a little speech to the boys, telling them there was no reason why any one of them should not become President of the United States. The President also stopped only to address a body of students from a negro school and returning to the city he passed in review of all the public school children of the city.

COTTON PROSPECTS BETTER

Reports From Texas and Other States Makes Crop Look More Encouraging—Sudden Decline on Thursday—Prices.

New York, Nov. 5.—The sudden decline in the cotton market on Thursday came to many like a flash out of the clear sky. To others after an almost uninterrupted advance of $15 a bale a set-back of $2.50 to $3.00 such as occurred was no more than natural. Patten and other interests are supposed to have reduced their holdings if they are not actually out of the market. Wall street houses have been heavy sellers. So have the rank and file of cotton traders. The market had become heavily overbought and when bulls withdrew their support as they did on Thursday the price came down with startling suddenness. Vigorous hammering by bear leaders helped to bring it about. The net decline for the week is comparatively moderate but bears predict that from now on there will be a gradual sagging off of prices to a point where the spinners will be induced to take hold freely. Foreign mills have bought heavily this season, but the American spinner has for the most part held aloof. As a rule he claims that he could not buy the raw material at existing prices and sell his goods at a profit. Therefore, he either abstains altogether from buying or else bought as little as possible. Also there has been a steady spread of the movement to reduce the output of cotton goods so many hours a day or so many days in a week.

Of late the spot markets have shown less snap, less activity and strength. Liverpool's spit sales have suddenly dropped to a very small total daily. The New York stock is steadily increasing as cotton can be brought from the South at a profit. Crop news has been rather more cheerful. The top crop of Texas and some other States may turn out to be larger than at one time seemed possible. Over election day there was very heavy selling supposedly by Patten and other interests in New Orleans in Liverpool. The market was nervous on Wednesday and the doldrums on Thursday. Yet bulls believe that even a set-back of 50 to 60 points in a day is no valid argument against the proposition that sooner or later prices must mount to a very much higher level. In the Sully year when the price was around 12 cents and above there were frequent set-backs of 40 points or more in a day, yet the price ultimately reached 17.55 cents. The exports are on a very large scale and spinners takings for the season despite the high prices ruling show a considerable increase over those for the same period last season. Liverpool has been buying to liquidate straddles. At times both American and foreign spinners have been buyers of future here. Bullish ginners' reports are expected from the National Ginners' Association and the Census Bureau, the latter on Monday. It is contended that the South had sold cotton to the amount of $350,000,000 and is in a position to fight a decline and is likely to do so. Crop estimates from various sources have ranged from 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 bales, which bulls refuse to listen to any estimate of the world's consumption of American cotton of less than 13,000,000 to 13,500,000 bales. But some conservative people are glad to see some reaction in the market and deprecate wild and dangerous speculations which they complain disorganize the world's cotton trade. At any rate if there is to be an advance they would like to see it occur gradually so that the trade can have a chance to adapt itself to the new level of values.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE RAGING

Black Rock Springs Hotel and 27 Cottages Destroyed—Thousand Acres of Timber Land Laid Waste—Details.

Winchester, Va., Nov. 5.—The forest fires in this section continue to rage fiercely and unless rain falls within the next few hours, the property loss will be enormous. Thousands of acres of valuable timber land in the great North mountains have already been laid in waste, and the flames are spreading in all directions.

Started by hunters on Monday last, the fire has now raged for four days, in the Great North, Massanutten and Blue Ridge mountains.

The town of McGaheysville, Rockingham county, was threatened with destruction, and only late last night, did the combined male population of the town succeed in checking the flames.

The large hotel buildings at Black Rock Springs, in the Blue Ridge, near Grottoes, were destroyed by the fire last night together with 27 cottages on the property of the Black Rock Spring Company. A number of cottages located on a tract adjoining the Black Rock Springs Company, were also burned. Orkeny Springs is also in great danger and a number of cottages have been burned in this neighborhood.

In Page county, the famous Dunkard church, the oldest edifice in the county, was only saved after heroic work by the farmers. The western slopes of Maryland Heights at Harpers Ferry is also aflame.

TWO WERE KILLED AT GREENVILLE

Harry Skinner, Jr., and J. L. Fleming Victims af Accident.

CAR CRASHED INTO BRIDGE

Three Others in the Accident Injured. Mr. Fleming's Neck Was Broken. Lost Control of Car—A Fearful Mishap.

Greenville, N. C., Nov. 5.—A fatal automobile wreck occurred near here late this afternoon to a car which was occupied by E. G. Flannagan, J. L. Fleming, Harry Skinner, Jr., and S. C. Wooten, prominent citizens of Greenville. In trying to pass a lumber wagon, Mr. Flannagan, who was driving the machine, lost control and crashed with terrific force into a tree by the roadside.

The machine turned a somersault. Mr. Fleming was thrown on his head, breaking his neck and killing him instantly. Mr. Flannagan was caught under the machine and badly crushed, three ribs being broken and internal injuries sustained. Skinner's skull was fractured and he was otherwise badly bruised, resulting in his death later, while being taken to a hospital in Richmond.

Mr. Fleming was State Senator from Pitt county and Mr. Skinner is the son of United States District Attorney Harry Skinner, of the Eastern District of North Carolina.

Skinner, who was being rushed to a hospital in Richmond, Va., died before the train reached Wilson, N. C.

Greenville, N. C., Nov. 5.—Greenville is filled with mourning and sadness tonight caused by the fatal automobile accident which occurred late this afternoon. Mr. E. G. Flanagan had three friends, Messrs. J. L. Fleming, Harry Skinner, Jr., and S. C. Wooten went out for a ride in his automomile. They had been a short distance in the country and when about a mile from town, on their return, overtook some lumber wagons in the road. Mr. Flanagan was driving his machine at high speed and in turning out to pass the wagons lost control of the machine and it crashed with terrific force into a tree by the roadside, which turned it over and almost completely wrecked it.

Mr. Fleming was thrown about 20 feet and fell on his head, breaking his neck and killing him almost instantly. Mr. Flanagan was caught under the machine which crushed him badly, breaking three ribs and inflicting internal injuries. His condition is serious. Mr. Skinner's skull was fractured and he was otherwise badly bruised. He was taken at once to the depot and started to a hospital in Richmond. Mr. Wooten was badly hurt about the head, but sustained the least injury of either in the party.

It is remarkable that all four of them were not killed. Mr. Flanagan was ex-State Senator of Pitt county and well known throughout the State. He leaves a wife and three small children. The terrible disaster has cast a gloom over the entire community.

The first news of the distressing tragedy at Greenville reached Wilmington early last evening through the medium of a private long distance telephone message to Col. Harry Skinner, who had just arrived from his home to attend to some affairs of the United States Court here, expecting to remain over for the Taft Day celebration on Tuesday. Col. Skinner at once arranged for a special train over the Atlantic Coast Line for his return last night and he left at 11:30 P. M. to join other members of the grief-stricken family. Mr. Harry Skinner, Jr., was well known in Wilmington and had frequently been a guest of friends here and at Wrightsville Beach. He was an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, a young man of fine qualities and striking personality. His death will be mourned all over the State. His father and other members of the stricken families have the tenderest sympathy of the people of the entire State.

ATLANTA AUTO SHOW.

Special Trains Arrive With Machines. Opens Today.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—Three special trains carrying automobiles for the Atlanta automobile show which opens Saturday, reached this city this afternoon. One of the trains was from New York, another from Chicago and a third from St. Louis.

There will be a formal dedication of the show at 3 P. M. tomorrow with speeches by the mayor and prominent citizens.

WAKE FOREST DEFEATED.

Richmond Won in Hard Fought Game by Score of 10 to 0.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 5.—Richmond College defeated Wake Forest 5 to 0 in a hard fought foot ball game here today. The teams were evenly matched. The touchdown was made on a fake forward pass by Richmond.

ACCIDENT ON NORTH DAKOTA

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 5.—As the new battleship North Dakota was completing her four hour endurance run at a 21-knot gait off the New England coast today with the battleship speed championship of America, almost in her grasp, a boiler room accident robbed her of the laurels and sent her scurrying into this port to land four injured men. The big ship nevertheless exceeded her contract requirement of 21 knots an hour, making 21.71 in the first two hours, 21.64 in the third, and 21 knots flat as she hurried in on the fourth hour to this port. The injured men are William H. Grange, water tender: John Souden, coal passer; A. Peterson, fireman, and Peter McConnell, fireman. Souden was badly scalded and when landed this afternoon was suffering intensely.

On the first two hours of her trial today, the North Dakota's engines developed 32,000 horse power.

She was entering the fourth hour of her test when a seven-inch tube in one of the lower rows of boilers blew out and filled the room with steam. The engineers immediately cut off four of the 14 boilers.

As soon as the extent of the injuries of the firemen had been ascertained the North Dakota was swung around and headed back up the coast for this port, where it was known that a good harbor could be reached shortly after the expiration of the time limit. All four of the injured men bravely urged the engineer force to disregard their injuries and keep the battleship on her work. Under the ten boilers 21 knots was maintained for the balance of the time, and at 4 o'clock the North Dakota steamed into this harbor and sent the injured men ashore.

The defective tube was replaced and arrangements were made to leave at midnight for the 24 hours run at a speed of 19 knots an hour.

Tonight it was reported from the navy yard that all the injured would probably recover, but it was feared Souden might lose his eye sight. In addition to the four men brought ashore, 12 others suffered from scalding but their injuries are of a minor character.

VIRGINIA FOREST FIRES.

Damage to the Extent of Many Thousands Near Ronaoke.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 5.—Damage to the extent of many thousands of dollars has been done by forest fires which started on Mill Mountain on the southern edge of Roanoke last Sunday. High winds yesterday and last night carried the flames miles and in their sweep a number of barns and other buildings were destroyed and other damage was done. Last night and today hundreds of people were in the mountains fighting fire. State Commissioner of Agriculture Koiner has suffered considerable loss to his orchards. At one time last night the fire was within ten feet of the fence surrounding the grounds of Virginia College. The fire is not so fierce tonight.

PEARY BEATS TEDDY

Ex-President No Longer Highest Priced Author.

New York, Nov. 5.—Former President Roosevelt has lost his record as being the highest paid author in the world.

For the narrative of his big game hunt in Africa it has been generally understood that he was to receive $1 a word, but now a comparatively new magazine announces that it has contracted to pay Commander Robert E. Peary $1.20 a word for a story of about 50,000 words concerning his adventures in seeking the North role.

GIVES MILLONS TO INSTITUTIONS

Rich New Yorker Who Died With Whooping Caugh The Donor.

ALSO $35,000,000 TO WIFE

Presbyterian Church Interests Share Largely in the Bequest—Beneficiaries Both Here and Aboard—Other Gifts.

New York, Nov. 5.—John Stewart Kennedy, one of America's little known rich men, who died of whooping cough in his New York residence, on Sunday last, left bequests of more than $25,000,000 to religious, charitable and educational institutions in his will, filed for probate here today.

The gift is the largest single contribution of its kind ever made and the beneficiaries include educational and church institutions, North, South, East and West in the country and several abroad, 60 in all.

Nearly half of the $25,000,000 goes to institutions connected with the Presbyterian church of which Mr. Kennedy was an active member. Other large beneficiaries include the American Bible Society, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the New York Public Library, the New York United Charities, Columbia University, and Robert College, Constantinople.

Aside from these gifts, Mr. Kennedy, left approximately $35,000,000 to his wife, his relatives and a great number of friends and employes. The widow's share will be about $16,000,000. All of the testator's employes receive gifts of from $500 to $2,000 each.

The charitable, religious and educational institutions which receive the largest bequests are to share the residue of the estate left after definite gifts of approximately $12,000,000 have been paid out. Their shares are estimated by counsel for the executors as follows:

Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, $2,250,000; Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, $2,250,000; Presbyterian Church Extension Fund $2,250,000; Presbyterian Hospital, New York $2,250,000; Robert College, Constantinople, $1,500,000; Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges, $750,000; Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, $2,250,000; New York Public Library, $2,250,000; Columbia University, $2,250,000; United Charities, New York, $1,500,000; America Bible Society, $750,000; Charity Organization Society, New York, $750,000.

Among the numerous smaller gifts are the folowing: Yale University, $100,000; University of Glasgow, Scotland, "where from my infancy I resided until I came to this country," $100,000; Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, $100,000; Hampton Normal School and Agricultural Institute, $100,000; Anatolic College, Morsovan, Turkey, $50,000; Syrian Protestant College, Beirut, Syria, $25,000; American School at Smyrna, Turkey, $20,000; Centre College, Danville, Ky., $25,000; Berea College, Kentucky, $50,000; Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers, $30,000.

There are also numerous bequests of from $5,000 to $25,000 generally to local religious and charitable organtzations.

The long list of gifts is prefaced in the will by this paragraph:

"Having been greatly prospered in the business which I carried on for more than 30 years in this, my adopted country, and being desirous of leaving some expression of my sympathy with its religious, charitable, benevolent and educational institutions, I make these gifts."

Mr. Kennedy, whose death on Sunday occurred with only brief comment by the press, was one of the millionaire philanthropists whose gifts, though measured in millions, were made with as little glare of publicity as possible. As he gave quietly so he had lived unostentatiously, and made his princely fortune with little blare of trumpets. Besides being a banker he was one of the country's chief builders of railroads, a patron of art and education, and in his own quiet way, one of New York's foremost advocates of scientifically organized charity.

Many of his great benefactions probably never were made public but he figured in recent years as the giver of $800,000 home for the United Charities in this city; of $1,000,000 to the Presbyterian Hospital; $250,000 to the school of Philanthropy; $500,000 to Columbia University; and of $400,000 to a nurse home for the Presbyterian hospital. Many even among the well informed had any idea as to the real wealth of the banker.

On Wall street Mr. Kennedy had the reputation of keeping the largest cash balance in his bank accounts of any New York financier. As banker and investor he always showed great interest in the development of the Northwest.

William Torrey Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, died at Providence, R. I., last night. Mr. Harris' work in educational lines gained for him international recognition.

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—Accompanied by delegations of representative men from Greensboro and Durham, the delegates to the National Farmer's Congress left at 7 A. M. today for the special excursion to these two splendid North Carolina cities and to take a look at the intervening country.

One hour was devoted to taking in some of the features of special interest about Durham, including tobacco warehouses and factories. From 1 to 7:30 o'clock was spent in Greensboro with visits to Guilford Battleground, the Cone mills and other features of interest, arriving in Raleigh on the return trip at 10 P. M. Regular business sessions will be resumed in Pullen auditorium Saturday.

For these delegates who did not undertake the special excursion today and for all the delegates whenever they have opportunity or can take the time, an objective point of ove-shadowing inteerst is the extensive display of corn, fruits and vegetables assembled by the State Department of Agriculture especially for the benefit of the Farmer's Congress and admirably displayed in the State Museum. There are over 100 exhibitors from every section of the State and about 300 different exhibits including corn, apples, grapes, vegetables and truck of various kinds, including a number of very fine pumpkins.

In his annual address before the Congress Col. Benehan Cameron, president of the Association, declared that in his opinion the Association is now on the eve of accomplishing great good. With the tariff out of the way as a National issue in that both the Republican and the Democratic parties were divided, he hoped that the farmers would prosper "in spite of the tariff which he complained taxes all that the farmer consumes and affords no protection for his products.

Treating the problem of marketing crops, Col. Cameron advocated warehouses for tobacco and cotton and similar staple crops, where ready money was necessary and the time not ripe for selling to the best advantage, and for perishable crops the cold storage. Co-operation, he declared, should be the slogan, this being already an accomplished fact in many parts of the country, and is destined to restore the husbandman of the soil his rightful supremacy in the nation. It will add millions to the actual harvest of profits realized by the patient growers.

He predicted that the National government will ere long provide inspectors to have the watchcare of interstate shipments, or consignments of agricultural products with records by railroad, consignee and consignor that will make it possible to officially trace the condition and marketing of products and thereby keep down friends that are perpetuated against the growers.

As to transportation he urged support of the inland waterway projects as giving relief for threatened congestion in railroad traffic, a general system being urged to be established by the Federal Government.

Discussing public roads, Col. Cameron advocated co-operation by the county, the State and the National authorities, funds to be created by $1,000 each being contributed by the three branches of government, making $3,000 to be expended in the township and in the county with good roads thrown in.

BOTH SPOKE AT DURHAM

Secretary James Wilson Deplored Present Educational Tendency and Ambassador Bryce Urged Education.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 5.—"The place for the farmers now is in the South where the soil is friendly to nearly every product of the country," declared Secretary Wilson, of the National Department of Agriculture, today in an address before the National Farmers' Congress during its visit to Durham to inspect the tobacco factories here.

Secretary Wilson said he had nothing against the schools and colleges of the country, but that their tendency had been to educate away from the farmers instead of towards them. He expressed his sympathy with the man who proposed an agricultural school for every county whether that school be an actual institution or merely a place where farmers met and discussed farming.

"Of course the lure of the cities and the lands of the West have called men away," he continued, "but the place for the farmer is in the South, where the soil is friendly to nearly every product of the country. The abandonment of farms has been upon such a scale that the danger of reducing the country to an import rather than an export nation is evident."

Issue was taken with Mr. Wilson by a number of the New York delegation when he declared that in New York State, 60 miles from Albany and 20 miles from Utica, every third house was untenanted.

Secretary Wilson boasted of the freedom of his department from politics. He declared that of the 11,000 men under him he did not know the politics of eleven of them.

While Secretary Wilson, whose presence had not been expected, was addressing the farmers downtown, Ambassador James Bryce, of Great Britain, was urging upon the students of Trinity College the necessity of cultivating friendships formed at college. He congratulated the South upon the number of men it sends to college for preparation for business as well as learned life.

Mr. Bryce commented upon the similarity of the National anthems of Great Britain and the United States after both had been sung by the students. He said that men should study the growth of liberty and its re-birth in the British nation before America was discovered.

Mr. Bryce spent the whole afternoon in motoring over Durham roads. Owing to his late arrival he missed the meeting of the farmers this morning.

STEINHEIL TRIAL REACHES CLIMAX

ATTACKED HER VERACITY

Judge DeValles Believes Her Story is a Tissue of Lies—Sensational Turn in the Case—Paris Watches The Trial.

Paris, Nov. 5.—After having withstood, for nearly three days, a merciless examination at the hands of the presiding judge of the court of the Assizes, where she is being tried on a charge of murdering her husband and her step-mother, the iron nerves of Mme. Marguerite Steinheil gave way late this afternoon and she was led from the witness stand and out of the court room in a state of utter collapse. Several times before the climax came restoratives were administered when it seemed as though Mme. Steinheil was about to faint, and each time she had recovered quickly and replied to the interrogations of the presiding judge, M. DeValles.

When today's session of the court began M. DeVallers was fearful lest the strain to which Mme. Steinheil had been put for two days was proving too much for her, but his solicitude for her evoked from Mme. Steinheil the unhesitating statement that she was not at all fatigued. M. DeValles thereupon led her through a labyrinth of questions surrounding the case with his wonted relentnessness and Mme. Steinheil, with her ever ready wit answered them quickly and to the point or when they seemed unduly compromising, pleaded for justice and not vindictiveness.

Once she made a plea direct to the jury that they believe her innocent, declaring that in the hour of her adversity friends, who had partaken of her hospitality had utterly forsaken her. Again, when pressed closely by Judge DeValles as to why she had declared certain jewels had been stolen at the time of the murder when in reality she had concealed them, Mme. Steinheil, her eyes burning brightly and moistureless behind the pallor that the walls of Saint Mazaire prison have imprinted upon her cheeks, cried out that it was to save her daughter from the knowledge that her mother had a lover.

As to her accusations against Burlingham, an American newspaper man, and others, whom she had charged with complicity in the crime, Mme. Steinheil said that in her frenzy she had taken recourse in anything that seemed to give promise of clearing herself of the charge.

It was just after a savage attack had been made upon her veracity by the judge that the climax came. Mme. Steinheil's attorney protested, but the judge retorted hotly that the accused woman had lied throughout that—that her story was a tissue of lies. A short recess was taken but when Mme. Steinheil returned to the stand again she was unnerved by the ordeal and was led fainting from the room.

Several policemen were examined late in the afternoon concerning what they saw at Mme. Steinheil's house after the murder and shortly afterwards court adjourned for the day.

FRAUD INDICTMENTS.

Handed Down by Federal Grand Jury for Underweighing Sugar.

New York, Nov. 5.—Several indictments were handed down today by the Federal grand jury which has been seeking evidence in connection with the underweighing frauds at the docks of sugar refining companies in this city and elsewhere. As the government's suggestion Judge Hand, in the United States Circuit Court, ordered the indictments placed under seal until the bench warrants issued under them shall have been executed.

SEABOARD OFFICERS SOON.

Committee Appointed to Make Recommendations—Haas in Charge.

New York, Nov. 5.—The composition of the special committee of Seaboard Air Line directors, who are charged with the task of nominating the executive officers of the road was made known today. It is as follows: L. F. Loree, president Delaware & Hudson; Y. Vandenburg and Ernest Thalmann, of the banking house of Ladenburg, Thalman and Company; B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad; S. Davies Warfield, president Continental Trust Company, of Baltimore; John S. Williams, president of the Georgia & Florida Railway; N. S. Meldrum, of the banking house of Blair & Company, New York; Wallace B. Donham, vice president of the Old Colony Trust Company, of Boston, and Franklin Q. Brown, vice president of the Georgia & Florida Railway. The duties of the committee in addition to recommending men for the various offices almost embrace revising the by-laws and defining the authority of the officers.

The committee will, it is expected, submit its recommendations to the directors at their meeting to be held on November 11th.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 5.—L. G. Haas is today in charge of the property and affairs of the Seaboard Air Line Railway following its delivery last night to the stockholders by Receivers Warfield, Williams and Duncan. All officials heretofore reporting to Mr. Haas as agent for the receivers are directed by a circular issued today to report to him as "assistant to the chairman of the executive committee."

It is reported that Mr. Haas will be retained permanently under the reorganization as "executive officer."

ROOSEVELT RUMOR DENIED.

Report He Was Killed in Africa Believed to be Untrue.

New York, Nov. 5.—Another of those apparently absurd rumors that bob up almost every time a prominent man gets out of direct touch with the world went skipping over the country today concerning former President Roosevelt. This will-o-the-wisp had it that Mr. Roosevelt had been killed in Africa and because of the dangers of African hunting freshly imprinted on the public mind by Mr. Roosevelt's magazine articles, there was some uneasiness until Douglas Robinson, Mr. Roosevelt's brother-in-law, said emphatically that he took no stock in such reports.

Mr. Robinson branded the first vague reports of the day as false and when informed tonight that later rumors had it that he (Mr. Robinson) had been advised by cable of Mr. Roosevelt's death, he authorized another vigorous denial.

If anything had happened to his illustrious brother-in-law Mr. Robinson was sure he would hear of it immediately and accordingly he placed no credit in the reports. Magazine editors and other associates of Mr. Roosevelt in New York took this same view.

It was pointed out also that the Colonial office in London would be promptly advised of any mishap to Mr. Roosevelt and as nothing had been heard there, this was taken as an additional indication that the rumor was merely a news sprite from the field of the sixth sense.

According to latest cable dispatches Mr. Roosevelt is hunting on the Guas Ingishu plateau and will return to Londiana in about five weeks.

REWARDED AT LAST.

Young Granville Couple Happily Married in Florence, S. C.

(Durham Sun.)

Cupid was certainly not outwitted and the young couple, Mr. Richard Briggs and Miss Bettie Hicks, were rewarded for their persistent efforts by being wedded yesterday morning by a preacher in Florence, S. C.

This paper carried an article Tuesday relating the adventures of this young couple, who informed the representative that their home was in Granville county. They tried Register Markham three times for license without success and at last went to the station Tuesday night and remained until the early morning Southern train arrived. They boarded this and hither rode to Florence, S. C. Here they found a preacher and were happily married within 15 minutes after their arrival. They caught the next train back to Durham and reached here yesterday afternoon, having been gone hardly a day. They paid a visit to Mr. Markham and took special care to show him their marriage certificate. They are now no doubt at home once again.

ORE IN NASH COUNTY.

Valuable Deposits Found Near Nashville, N. C., This Week.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 5.—Another discovery of copper ore was made one day this week and again there is an evidence that elsewhere in Nash county there are deposits, while the recent discovery unearthed an ore that is rich in gold as well. In sinking a bored well at the plant of the Farmers' Oil Company, at Nashville, recently, and when about 75 feet deep a rich vein of copper ore became perceptible. The ore was noted and it was found that it contained a rich deposit of gold. A chemical test revealed the fact that the nuggets were fine specimens of copper. The vein is probably the same traversing Nashville in a southerly direction and which was unearthed some years ago, by the late W. H. Griffin who, while sinking a well on his farm, just on the outside of the outskirts of the city, discovered a rich vein of copper ore.

LIVINGSTON MANOR DESTROYED.

Historical Old Residence on the Hudson—Details.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The historical Livingston manor owned by John Henry Livingston and located near Tivoli, on the bank of the Hudson river, was destroyed by fire tonight.

It was in this house, erected in 1783, that Chancellor Livingston swore George Washington in office in 1789.

WISTARIA TO LEAVE.

The Auxiliary Tented to be Sent to the Boston District.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 5.—The familiar tender Wistaria of the Sixth Lighthouse District, will be sent to the Second district with Boston as its headquarters, upon the completion of the new tender for the engineer's department. Just when the new boat for this district will arrive, it is not known, but when she is completed and reports to the inspector, the familiar old tender will go North, to take the place of the Verbena.

The Wistaria's departure will be regretted. She has been doing service in Charleston harbor and along the South Atlantic coast for nearly thrity years. She has been used as a pleasure craft on all the most important big governmental or official functions. She is still a fine ship, although somewhat out of date and her removal from these waters will be regretted.

The Cypress, the new tender, is scheduled to leave New York for Charleston next Tuesday with supplies. Her time for being docked at the Charleston navy yard for repairs is not yet named.

A NEAR LYNCHING.

Two Negroes in West Virginia Hurried Away Under Escort.

Gassaway, W. Va., Nov. 5—The two negroes who were under arrest here in connection with the brutal assault on Mrs. Albert Lockwood at Exchange, near here, last Wednesday, early this morning were taken from the jail here, placed aboard a special train and started for the county prison at Sutton, W. Va.

Before they reached this place, the negroes surrounded by National Guardsmen from Sutton and accompanied by Governor Glasscock, members of his staff and the mayor of this place, departed. By using unfrequented thoroughfares the large party reached the tracks of the Coal & Coke Railroad without trouble. Here a special train of work cars was in waiting and about an hour later when the track had been cleared giving the special right of way, the trip to Sutton, the county seat, was made.

That a double lynching did not take place here is due mainly to the quick action of Governor Glasscock. When the populace discovered this morning that the negroes were out of their reach there was displayed a keen feeling of regret. Cries of "kill the negroes!" were heard in various parts of the town and for a time it was feared that a race war was imminent. Later, however, conditions grew quiet. The eyes of the town are now turned towards Sutton. A large number of local people have started for that place, but unless aided by residents of Sutton, it is not believed there is further danger of a double lynching.

Before leaving here the Governor thanked the Mayor for his efforts to prevent the lynching and again expressed his determination to put a stop to the practice of lynching in West Virginia.

CAVES IN AGAIN.

Contractors on Southern Tunnel in Lynchburg Have More Trouble.

(Special to Times-Dispatch.)

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 4.—Another section of the Southern tunnel under Water street, in Rivermont, went down this morning at 10:40 o'clock, this new cave in being about sixty feet long and about fifty feet in width. It is about 150 feet from the northern end of the construction and 800 feet from the northern end of the burned portion, which went down in the fire last August.

The cave-in happened about ten minutes after an immense blast was put off some distance from the scene of the new trouble. While the blast may have been directly the cause of the trouble, it is said the intense heat in the tunnel at the time of the fire and that caused by the steam after the fire, this having been used to extinguish the blaze, caused the big timbers to be twisted out of shape.

Had the cave-in happened ten minutes earlier or ten minutes later about forty men would have been caught inside the excavation. This would mean that these men would have been imprisoned, for both ends of the work are obstructed now.

UNITED STATES DEFENDANT.

Named in Action Brought by British Tug—Contention.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 5.—Papers in an admiralty libel suit, in which the United States of America are named as deefndant, were filed in the United States Court in this city today.

The libellant is the Cobridge Steamship Company, limited, of Liverpool, England, and the amount asked is $9,000.57, on account of damage alleged to have been sustained by the British steamship Moroa while at anchor in Norfolk harbor, February 2nd, 1907.

It is alleged that the Maroa was run into by the tug Rocket, of the United States Navy, and as a result several plates of the steamship were bent and she was otherwise damaged. The Maroa was temporarily repaired at the Norfolk navy yard.

In order that the owners of the Maroa might have remedy at law, the Congress of the United States, on March 4, 1909, passed a special act for relief and under this act the present litigation is brought by Messrs. Hughes & Little, attorneys of this city.

McCARREN SUCCESSOR.

New York, Nov. 5.—It was said tonight that leading Brooklyn Democrats have decided upon former Supreme Court Justice Augustus VanWyck as the successor of the late Patrick H. McCarren, as leader of the Brooklyn Democracy.

Mr. VanWick, who was deefated for Governor of New York State by Theodore Roosevelt had been in practical command since McCarren's death by virtue of his position as chairman of a "provisional committee" appointed early in the municipal campaign.

PITIFUL PLEA OF GUILT.

Aged Blind Woman Admits Effort to Defraud Government For Pension.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—An aged woman, blind, decrepit and helpless, stood before Judge John J. Phillips, in the United States District Court here today and admitted that she had attempted to defraud the Government by making a false affidavit to an application for a pension. Both the woman's attorney and the United States District Atorney asked the court to be merciful in imposing punishment.

"She cannot well go to prison," said Judge Phillips, "I will continue the case for sentence to some future time."

The old woman was Mrs. Mary Bennett Taylor Milledeg, who at one time pretended to be the wife and later the widow of George H. Jenkins, an old soldier, whose murder in September, 1909, is one of Kansas City's unsolved mysteries. It was while posing as the widow of Jenkins that the woman made application for the pension that she had been receiving at the time of his death.

When the Government pension agents came to investigate "Mrs. Jenkins' claim they untangled a strange complication of matrimonial adventures. Mary J. Bennett first had married George J. Taylor, in Davies county, Missouri, in the sixties. After two children had been born to them Taylor left his wife, declaring he could not stand her treatment of him. Without troubling to get a divorce, Mrs. Taylor then married George H. Jenkins.

Soon after Jenkins' murder and while the pension agents were working on the case, the woman married Charles Milledeg, a carpenter, who had lived at her home for a time before Jenkins was killed. After her marriage to Milledeg she continued to press her pension claim as the widow of Jenkins.

The woman now has not a husband left and has been an object of charity for some time. A 16 year-old son, born while his mother lived with Jenkins, today promised to care for her if she should be released.

ROMANCE ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Sicilian Girl Shot Former Lover Who Attempted Her Life.

Bluefield, W. V., Nov. 3.—A romance of two continents had a tragic ending today at a coal mining village near here. A Sicilian girl, who had two sweet hearts, jilted one and came to America recently to marry the other.

Michael O. Brunilda, the scorned lover, followed. He traced the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Fairdnice from Brooklyn, where they were married on the girl's arrival to West Virginia where the husband went to work in the mines.

The old sweetheart came here today and found the girl he loved in the home of her husband. He fired at her, the bullet entering her breast. The woman secured her husband's pistol and fired at Brunilda, wounding him just as her husband entered the door, the latter took the pistol from his wife's hand and killed Brunilds firing shot after shot into him as he died.

HESTER'S COTTON REPORT

New Orleans, Nov. 5.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 3,959,651 against 3,716,383 last week, 3,617,000 last year. Of this, the total of American cotton is 3,512,651 against 3,304,383 last week and 3,902,900 last year and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 447,000 against 412,000 bales last week and 525,000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 2,317,000 against 1,926,000 last year; in Egypt 143,000, against 59,000 last year; in India 93,000 against 121,000 last year, and in the United States 1,407,000 against 1,432,000 last year.

KENTUCKY NIGHT RIDERS.

Resident of Jackson Asks Governor Willson for Troops.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—Jackson is quiet for the present and Mason county has again taken the center of the stage, one of its residents having called for troops as protection against night riders. The suppliant is Ben Longenecker, whose young daughter some nights ago held back attacking night riders at the muzzle of a rifle.

Longnecker has made this call through the Department of the Adjutant General, but the information at Frankfort, the State capital, is that when the sheriff of Mason county offered Longenecker protection the farmer refused to tell who was threatening him. For this reason it is said Governor Willson is disinclined to send troops.

BIG DAY AT MIDDLESEX.

Prominent Speakers at Thriving Nash County Town Yesterday.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Spring Hope, N. C., Nov. 5.—This was a big day at Middlesex, Nash county's two-year-old town. The speakers were ex-Governor C. B. Aycock, Dr. B. F. Dixon and T. W. Pickett. A special train from Raleigh brought the speakers and many visitors, including a brass band. The speakers were introduced by Principal J. E. Redfern, of the Middlesex school. It was a great day for the school children and everybody. Fully 2,000 people spent the day in town. Col. Exum Lewis was master of ceremonies.

PROTESTS PROHIBITED

Hawaiian Islands Legislature Passes Resolution Against It.

Honolulu, Nov. 5.—Both Houses of the territorial Legislature adopted today a joint resolution voicing an earnest protest against the attempt of J. G. Wooley, a local attorney, and others to procure a Federal enactment extending prohibition to the Hawaiian Islands. Wooley and his associates, it is reported have been carrying on a campaign to this end at Washington and in other mainland cities for some time.

The resolution was adopted in the house 26 to 2, and unanimously approved by the senate.

Territorial Delegate Kalanianaole at Washington is urged to oppose the act.

ASHORE NEAR SAVANNAH.

Steamer City of Augusta Grounded Yesterday—Passengers Taken Off.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 5.—Within a few rods of where the steamship Allegheny was burned more than a year ago, the steamship City of Augusta, of the Ocean Steamship Company, is aground off Tybee at the mouth of the Savannah river and repeated efforts of tugs to free her have been futile. The vessel ran aground early today.

The ship's passengers were taken from the vessel by the tug McCauley and after being transferred to the revenue cutter Yamacraw, which had just arrived here with President Taft, they were brought to Savannah.

The City of Augusta was rushing to Savannah from New York under orders to hurry to port. McCauley was badly damaged in trying to pull the steamship into deep water.

DR. ELLIOTT REPRIEVED.

Sentenced to Be Hanged Yesterday for Murder of Geo. L. Rivers.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—Following the attempted suicide late yesterday of Dr. J. M. Elliott, of LaGrange, Ga., sentenced to hang today for the murder of George L. Rivers, Governor Brown who is in Savannah telephoned another reprieve for two weeks for the condemned man. Elliott still is in a dangerous condition resulting from the large dose of bi-chloride of mercury he swalled yesterday.

GEN. COPPINGER DEAD.

Passed Away at His Home in Washington Thursday Night.

Washington, Nov. 4.—General John J. Coppinger died tonight at his residence in this city of pneumonia.

General Coppinger married Alice Blaine, eldest daughter of the late James G. Blaine, in February, 1883. Mrs. Coppinger died in 1890, leaving two sons, Blaine and Conor Coppinger, who survive. Since his retirement he has resided in Washington.

FINED FOR PEONAGE

Robert Christian Fined $2,500 by United States Court at Asheville.

Asheville, Nov. 5.—In the United States District Court this morning Robert Christian, on trial before Judge Boyd for peonage, submitted and was fined $2,500.

The charge against Christian was that during the construction of a railroad in Macon county he held negroes against their will to work out transportation charges.

Prominent members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, which exonerated Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of the charges of "mental malpractice" made against her by the Mother Church, in Boston, were predicting yetserday that the action of the New York church would by no means end the controversy engendered by the Stetson charges.

Judge Montgomery Suffers Stroke.

Concord Times: On last Tuesday morning ex-Judge W. J. Montgomery while in the court house suffered a slight stroke of paralysis. He got better, and was taken to his office, where he later suffered another slight stroke. He partially recovered from this in a few minutes, however, and was removed to his home. Since that, by advice of his physician, he has been confined to his bed. He has good use of his limbs, and his speech is only slightly affected. He attended Polk court week before last, spending the whole week at work. The court here immediately followed, and he was, therefore, entering upon the third week of strenuous work. As he is in his 76th year, this proved too much for him, though he is a man of remarkable vitality. His hundreds of friends in the city, county and State will regret to hear of his illness, but will be glad to know that he is getting along so well.

Power Plant in Marshall.

Asheville Gazette-News: The North Carolina Electrical Power Company, a subsidiary company to the W. T. Weaver Power Company, will within a few days begin the construction of a hydro-electric power plant, about 1 1-2 miles below Marshall. For some months surveys have been going on, but only within the last few days have the last obstacles been removed so that the construction of the plant could proceed. The greatest trouble was the fact that the line of the Southern railway runs very near the bank of the river, and the building of a dam might, at times, flood the tracks. Negotiations were taken up with the officials of the Southern railway, and they have consented to raise the tracks in places where there would be danger. The plant is designed to develop an assured 4,600 horse power, with a possibility of 20 per cent. overload under certain favorable conditions. A dam 500 feet long across the river, and 30 feet high, consisting of about 18,000 cubic yards of cyclopean concrete, will furnish the fall necessary. A stone power house will be built just below the dam, so that there will be only a short canal.

FATAL LUMBER CAMP ROW.

Three Men Dead as Result of Sunday Night Orgy.

(Asheville Gazette-News.)

The bodies of Arch and Harve Bateman, two brothers, were brought here last Monday afternoon via the Louisville & Nashville and shipped Tuesday over the Southern to their former home at Kyle, Macon county, says the Cherokee Scout in a lengthy story of a triple killing, mention of which was made in The Gazette-News at the time. They were the sons of Mr. Jake Bateman, a well known citizen of that section. Tuesday afternoon the dead body of Henry Farr arrived over the same road and was sent to his former home in Graham county. These three men were killed in a row the Sunday night previous at a lumber camp near Tellico Plains, Tenn., and it is said that the men were all drinking more or less and were gambling when the difficulty started.

Some time last Monday afternoon Sheriff Dickey received a telegram from the sheriff of Monroe county, Tenn., offering a reward of $150 for the arrest and conviction of Jim Nelson, Pat Lovin and J .S. Cable, all three being charged with the killing. Parties in Murphy say that Jim Nelson boarded the noon train here Monday of the Southern for his home at Topton, and had the telegram been a few hours earlier he could have been arrested.

Sheriff Dickey was at Topton Tuesday and learned from parties there that Jim Nelson told the following story of the row:

"Farr came into the room where several were playing cards, when he and the two Bateman brothers got into a difficulty. Young Bateman shot Farr. Pat Lovin killed young Bateman. Then the other Bateman jumped for the pistol in his dead brother's hand and got it. He and Pat Lovin then commenced shooting at each other, Lovin knocking Bateman's pistol off, and at the same time shooting, until he had shot him six times. All the parties were drinking and playing cards. Nelson said that he had nothing to do with the killing, and that Lovin killed the Bateman brothers in self-defense."

Farr lived until Monday afternoon and refused to give out any statement about the affair. The younger Bateman was killed instantly and his brother lived about 30 minutes. The lumber camp is located some distance from Tellico Plains in the mountains and only meagre and conflicting particulars could be ascertained of the tripple tragedy.

Pat Lovin, charged with the killing, is the son of Mr. Phil Lovin, a highly respected citizen of Grandview, this county, and his numerous friends sympathize with him in his trouble. Nelson lived at Topton, in this county. We know nothing of Cable or where he lived. Farr's home was in Graham county, and the Bateman brothers were from Macon county.

A gentleman from Tellico Plains accompanied the remains of Farr to Murphy and told parties here that Farr stated before he died that he opened the door of the room where the men were to pass through to his own room; as he did so the men got into a fight; he saw Lovin and one of the Bateman's with a pistol in their hands; the first shot fired struck him, and then the shooting became general; he did not know who shot him, but was satisfied that it was accidental.

TRINITY COLLEGE EVENTS.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., Nov. 5.—To a large audience of students and others at the mid-week meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, on Wednesday night, President Kilgo spoke on the late James H. Carlisle, former president of Wofford College, at Spartanburg, S. C., who so recently died. Dr. Kilgo set forth in a most striking way the character and career of this truly remarkable man.

Professor E. C. Brooks, of the Department of Education, is in Charlottesville, Va., attending the annual meeting of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States. Prof. Brooks is on the programme to read a paper on "A Comparison of the Grammar Schools in Different Sections of the Country." He is a member of the Executive Committee, which meets Thursday.

Dr. W. K. Boyd, who is a member of the committee to award the Patterson Cup, went to Raleigh to attend a meeting of the committee. Several other members of the faculty went to Raleigh today to attend the meeting of the Literary and Historical Society.

At a meeting of the Science Club Monday evening, a most interesting paper was presented by Dr. T. A. Mann, Health Officer of the City of Durham on "The Need of a Public Awakening in Preventive Medicine." Dr. Mann, who is a former student, has applied himself with marked enthusiasm and success to the work of his position. In addition to this, papers were presented by P. J. Johnson on "Doings in the Realm of Science"; L. M. Jones, on "Manufacture of Alcohol From Sawdust"; and M. A. Smith, Jr., on "A Physical Phenomenon." The next meeting of the club will be in charge of Dr. J. J. Wolfe, of the Department of Biology, who will give the result of some investigations he is making.

The Glee Club has been practicing for some time, and the number of contestants has been large. The members who are to compose the club have been chosen, and it is the expectation of the manager to give a number of concerts during the college year.

Last Tuesday evening in the Hesperian Hall from 8:30 to 11:30 the Junior Class met in an informal reception. The affair was quite odd in conception, being in the nature of a general jollification. The hall was prettily decorated in the class colors—maize and light blue; and the numerous 1911 pennants draped artistically around reflected the distinct class atmosphere of the affair. H. G. Hedrick, president of the class, presided. The following members of the class responded to toasts: L. I. Jaffe, "The Class"; Russell Korner, "The Co-Eds"; P. F. Hanes, "Class Spirit". Dr. F. C. Brown, who, with Mrs. Brown, was the only invited guest, made an enjoyable and very humorous talk, quite in keeping with the occasion. The rest of the evening was spent in playing various amusing games, after which delicious refreshments were served. The reception closed at 11:30 with several rousing class yells.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 4.—At a meeting of the general Athletic Association this afternoon arrangements were considered for running an excursion train to Richmond for the Carolina-Virginia football game Thanksgiving Day. Heretofore this excursion has been run by private parties, but according to the action taken today, they will be run in the future by the Association. President Graham appointed on the committee to look after the excursion this year Mr. S. F. Teague, of the Senior Class, and Messrs. E. F. McCulloch, Cy. Thompson and R. T. Webb, of the Junior Class. The Finance Committee, composed of two members of the faculty, and three members from the student body, was also appointed this afternoon. On that committee the president appointed Professors E. K. Graham and H. H. Williams, of the faculty, and Messrs. O. A. Hamilton, H. E. Stacy and L. Dek. Belden, all of the Senior class. Mr. V. C. Pritchett was unanimously elected to lead the singing on the football field for the rest of the season. Mr. Pritchett will also lead the songs on Thanksgiving, and this will greatly aid the "White and Blue" rooters in Richmond.

The Musical Association met today and organized for the ensuing year. Mr. Robt. H. McNeill was elected president, Mr. W. B. Ellis, vice president, and Mr. R. Wildman, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Grover Beard, of Winston-Salem, and a graduate student of the University, was elected manager of the Glee Club for the next year and he is already planning the itinerary for that organization next Spring. There is a great amount of musical talent on the "Hill" this year and it is hoped that a banner glee club can be selected from these voices.

Coach Brides has had the team at work harder than ever the past few days. Secret practice has been held every afternoon for about an hour and every night this week so it is expected that the boys will have something up their sleeve for V. P. I. next Saturday.

WHAT SEC. PEARSON SAYS.

Concerning the Legislative Acts Regulating Hunting Game.

(News and Observer.)

In response to an inquiry by Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes concerning the legislative acts regulating hunting game, Mr. T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the State Audubon Society says:

"In this office we construe the new county game laws for Wake county as follows:

"Chapter 723 of the Public Acts of 1909 prevents hunting of any kind whatever between March 1st and November 1st.

"This means that no one can be in the field hunting under any circumstances. After November 1st, such wild birds and animals as may be legally killed under the laws of the State and county can then be shot. For example ,rabbits, black birds and squirrels.

"Chapter 688 clearly and distinctly prescribes the open season for quail, wild turkeys, and certain other game birds as being from the 15th of November to the first day of March.

"I am inclined to think that the courts would also put this same construction on the law.

"At your suggestion, I am also advising the game warden at Raleigh of the contents of this letter."

THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK of Wilmington, N. C.

desires to announce that the institution, beginning business September 18th, 1905, was

FOUR YEARS OLD SEPTEMBER 18TH, 1909.

The capital of $200,000.00 and surplus of $100,000.00 were subscribed and paid in instalments.

No interest has been paid upon individual deposits and no interest bearing certificates have been issued.

All premium on $200,000.00 United States bonds has been charged off to current profits, likewise $3,000.00 on fixture account, amounting in all to about $13,000.00.

Total of $40,000.00 cash DIVIDENDS returned to the stockholders.

Without the impetus of assets absorbed from other banks or the payment of interest on individual deposits, the manageemnt is gratified at the growth shown four years from commencement of business, as follows:

Capital	$ 200,000.00
Surplus	$ 100,000.00
Undivided Profits, net	$ 44,000.00
Deposits	$1,262,037.40
Total Assets	$2,038,393.01

The success of the bank is due to a careful adherence to regulations of the United States Government, prescribed in the National Banking Act, and to the confidence and patronage of the business public at large, to which due acknowledgement is hereby made.

NO SUCH HONOR TO THE KING OF BEASTS.

We confess to a prideful feeling of unshakable calm in our reception of yesterday afternoon's rumor that Theodore Roosevelt had succumbed in Africa. The hope of that nameless genius of Wall street who, on the occasion of the ex-President's departure for the jungle, trusted that every lion would "do his duty", was too witty an utterance ever to have found its sober place in gory fact. When the wires thrilled with the news from London; when the Richmond papers were getting out copious extras (with pictures of the lion); when the telephone commenced to ring with anxious queries from startled Taftites, fearful for the future of Tuesday, we were calm.

Roosevelt is not the kind to be eaten. Such mastication as goes on in his community may be depended upon to be confined to his own chewing of the rag of controversy and adventure. What raging lion could face that glistening dental front? What 'rhino risk those plate-glass eyes? What 'hippo vie with that expansive deadly grin?

Roosevelt is not dead. There is no occasion for the excavation of the newspaper "graveyards" for facts, figures, vital statistics, and the pleasant sayings of Marcus Aurelius. There must have been some short breathing in many composing rooms. Some tons of managerial editorial hair were possibly extracted from a crop of already scanty roots. There has doubtless been a gorgeous resurrection of ancient pictures, and the Roosevelt visage, for the past few months so happily absent from the breakfast table, is doubtless this morning again gleaming into the faces of the multitude.

But Teddy is not dead. He is not even dying. No tetse fly has punctured his callous skin. No sleeping sickness dulls his virile mind. No fever stops his flying pen, racing off the dollars across the falling pages. No ague shakes his steady hand. No beast, nor reptile, snake nor varmint, can stay that progress through the wilds.

Roosevelt is not dead. He will take on a few crowned heads. He will pull the whiskers of a few catamounts of autocracy, even as he has tweaked the mustachios of those thoughtless cats that ran across his path. He will sleep in a few Rhine castles, drink a few bumpers of Flemish wine, engage a succession of French pates, Italian stews, German dinners, and English chops. Then he will come home, wiring ahead by wireless as he comes—the same Roosevelt, unterrified, untamed and untamable!

This happy event should happen about a year and a half before the Republican convention of 1912. It will then be President Taft's time to catch the fervor of that pump-handle shake and note in its direction a distinct tug towards the open door. Having written to his full of the perils of the field, it will be about time for the ex-President to yearn again for his once pleasing pastime of revamping the ten commandments. Then the cuts of the big stick will come forth again in all their pristine glory. The papers that have been drooling along with business statistics and academic discussion will have something palpitating to think about and talk about. The "Outlook" will take off its flannels and get in the ring. We will feel natural—albeit nervous—once more!

But a rumor of his death! Impossible! The thing was a canard on its face. The obituary writers needed a rest, anyhow, after their labors with Patrick McCarren. This strain might have killed them. It is fearful to think on, the biographies that Roosevelt will occasion when he finally goes the way of the flesh. In the meantime, let this be understood: The ex-President will never die in the day time. When he goes out it will be in the wee small hours, when all the forms are locked and the foreman is putting on his hat. For Roosevelt is nothing if not sudden.

The Charlotte Chronicle concludes from an anonymous comment, that "Wilmington is jealous." Any one living here who is jealous of Charlotte will have to be anonymous, in order to continue to abide.

When one has nothing else to say, he can always advise the farmers.

"REFORM'S" DEFEAT IN THE CITIES.

Tuesday's elections are described in the papers as having constituted a "bad day for reformers." In New York, where Tammany is supposed to represent the forces of evil, a good, clean man was elected, who was its candidate. In Philadelphia, too staid to be reformed, the regular ticket won over an impractical opposition. In San Francisco, Frank Heney, the bull-dozer, was decisively beaten. In Cleveland a like fate awaited Tom Johnston, millionaire dreamer, who has succeeded in dreaming away the money he acquired before he lost his common sense.

There is no cause for chagrin in either of these instances on the part of those who are desirous of real and lasting reform. It may as well be understood, however, that the day has passed when it is possible, by marching three times round a city and raising a shout, to capture control of the welfare, liberties and finances of a large community of people. The "professional reformer" has been almost as big a curse as the profressional grafter. Each has served the purpose of opening the eyes of progressive cities to their real needs, and to their remediable evils. Flying at one another's throats, they have each shown up the other. Between them, there are signs that they have brought the peoples of the urban communities nearer to balance. In New York it was a spectacle to disgust honest men to see the supposedly pure and high-minded busily engaged in the gutter collecting filth to hurl at Gaynor; in Philadelphia, it is presumed that the Quaker city has not yet recovered from the remorse of the one time that it went on the spree and threatened to hang the councilmen to its antiquated gas-posts; in San Francisco, the city probably concluded that one year of disaster by earth-quake and two of trial by Heney was all-sufficient; and in Cleveland, it was to laugh, in spite of the pity that must have been felt for that city's unique, but slightly cracked, perpetual benefactor.

In all of these instances the difficulty was not so much in an unwillingness to "reform," as it was in disinclination to live in perpetual turmoil. When you silence a "reformer" his occupation is gone. Give him his demands, and in self-preservation he demands double in return. His capital is agitation. His ammunition is the attacks of a public scold. He is insatiate and not to be palliated. In addition, no man can attend to business, whose business is discovering evil in others. That is the reason why it has become axiomatic that reform administrations last only one term. Rightly or wrongly, the people generally are growing to conclude that they want more effectiveness and less talk of virtue.

The true reform is, of course, that attention to public business on the part of the people who make it necessary, that they give to their own affairs. The citizen is a stockholder in the municipality. It is his duty to select the agents who shall conduct his affairs. In his own business, he is not going to give place either to a crook or a visionary. He ought not to do either in the management of the public affairs. Occasionally the citizen, collectively considered, has by disclosures of dishonesty been lured into substituting, for devious management by men who understood, ineffective management by honest men who knew nothing. Without reflection upon the successful tickets in these latest reform fights, it may be concluded that the people of the cities, pending the time when they shall take the time to give a business administration, have preferred some business, with some crooked politics, to no crooked politics with no business. This is utilitarian but inevitable. In the meantime, the professional reformers are still performing the highest duty of which they are capable, to wit: the keeping of a watchful eye and the imposition of a steady check upon too-sanguine graft.

MR. PAGE UP A TREE.

It is sometimes a mark of forcefulness to be indifferent to public opinion, and it is sometimes evidence of strength to oppose it. By like token, it is not infrequently the braggadocio of intellect to stand out against a thing simply because it is popular. Popular movements are sometimes wrong; they are more often right. The man who prides himself on never "going with the crowd" will rarely find good company with those among whom he remains.

With all apology to the Hon. Robert N. Page for placing him in the company of such a deep-drinking, loud-cursing, and generally profligate character as "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the gentleman first named seems to have found in the latter about his only companion in opposition to the waterways project on the Mississippi. As "Uncle Joe" holds the purse-strings, he can afford to shift his quid and say nothing. Actions speak louder than words with men who have the power. Mr. Page, however, feels it necessary to justify, and this is the way he does it, in an interview published a day or so ago in the Charlotte Observer:

"Mr. Page talked entertainingly of his trip down the river. He states that although the caravan was en route four days it did not meet a single loaded vessel and that to all intents and purposes it did not seem that there was any traffic on the river at all. The stream twists and turns to such an extent that it is no unusual experience for a vessel to be moving in as many as three directions, south, east, and west, within an hour. From time to time along the way, members made inquiry as to the traffic, but were always disappointed, the actual figures never measuring up to expectations. This fact naturally inspired the query as to the need of a 14-foot channel when there was no traffic on the river with an eight-foot channel as it was when the flotilla was aboard.

"Instead of helping, Mr. Page is of the opinion that the junket so pleasantly arranged by the Business Men's League of St. Louis really hurt the cause of the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway in that it gave the members of the Senate and House the idea that the returns would not justify the expenditude of such sums as those the scheme would call for.

"'Before I made this 'rip,' declared Mr. Page, 'I was inclined to vote for any appropriation in reason that would tend to promote the development of the traffic on the Mississippi and I am so inclined yet, but this experience gave me, as well as many others, the idea that such a plan as that contemplated would not achieve the end desired. If there is practically no traffic on the river now, what effect can a 14 foot channel have upon the situation? I am told the railroads that parallel the stream are offering rates in competition to the water rates and are largely doing the business of those centers."

It would seem that the conditions Mr. Page describes speak more eloquently than any words could do the necessity for the immediate deepening and straightening of the Mississippi. Here is a great river, one of the greatest in the world, cutting practically through the breadth of the richest section of the richest nation on earth. He did not see a single laden boat! Why? Surely not because the people of the South and middle West do not desire to make use of the Mississippi. It is for the privilege of using it that they are clamoring for Government aid. But it is because that, on account of the lack of governmental aid, this grand natural highway has fallen behind the demands of modern commerce. A river is, in natural order of things, only incidentally useful as a carrier of light freights, of which quickness of transportation is the chief essential. A river incapable, by reason of its shallowness and devious courses, of handling large vessels of deep draught, is on the same account useless as a carrier of the heavier and bulkier freights of which the essential is capacity of load and cheapness of rates. Between these two disadvantages Mr. Page finds the Mississippi barren of commerce, and concludes that the whole project is not necessary and not feasible!

Mr. Page also sagely remarks that he is told that the railroads are offering rates in competition to water rates, and that for that reason they are doing the business. Naturally. Who else is there to do it? What is to establish "water rates" with which the railroads are offering competition, when there are no adequate vessels plying the river? In what interest was Mr. Page given this enlightening information? Either Mr. Page devoted the four days trip to thinking about something very foreign to the subject of the journey, or the Charlotte newspaper man has made a muddle of the interview.

We suppose, however, that Mr. Page spoke from the condition laid down by President Taft, that in order to the establishment of waterways it must first be shown that the sections which they are proposed to traverse have developed sufficiently to justify the expense and to afford the necessary commerce. Because the Mississippi had been there a long time, and there is no commerce on it, the deduction possibly followed that it had not sufficiently "developed." We understand Mr. Taft in no such spirit of words without sense. Upon such a construction of his meaning, what waterway would be deemed possible? The waterway is to develop the section it goes through. That is its prime purpose. The President merely says that he will not favor its going through a desert, where human activity is problematical instead of logical. The President wishes, and wishes rightly, to have a basis in fact for the expenditure of public money, of which he, by virtue of his supervisory powers over legislation, is the National trustee. We do not believe for a moment, however, that he would make the vain declaration that because a public use is not being operated by reason of its unimproved condition, it has not been sufficiently developed to justify improvement. That would be a joke in too bad taste for the President to perpetuate at the expense of thoughtful and earnest men.

Yet it is thus that Mr. Page must have construed him, if he took the trouble to construe him at all.

The judges in the award of the Patterson literary cup doubtless considered that it would meet the proprieties of the situation for the token to be presented to the author of a "Southener in Europe," by the writer of "The American Commonwealth."

HOME CORN THE SOLUTION.

The conference on pellagra, recently concluded at Columbia, was attended by three hundred physicians and scientists of the highest rank. Here is their conclusion as to the causation of the disease in a nut-shell:

"Resolved, That while sound corn is in no way connected with pellagra, evidences of the relation between the use of spoiled corn and the prevalence of pellagra seem so apparent that we advise continued and systematic study of the subject and, in the meantime, we commend to corn growers the great importance of fully maturing corn upon the stalk before cutting the same."

We of the South cannot, and do not wish to, give up corn-bread, hominy, grits, fritters and all the other good, nourishing and strengthening products on which we have grown and thriven. The opinion of the conference, both as to the prevalence of pellagra and its cause, cannot, however, be over-looked. The remedy, too, is not as simple as it looks, and not as simple as it ought to be. Corn fully matured on the stalk will not cause pellagra, but how are we to know that the corn we eat has been so grown?

The South cannot know this till it does what has been so long urged upon it to do, grow itself the corn it eats. "Hog and hominy" ought to be home products on every consideration of health and economy. When, in addition to the duty to make the most of a natural sectional adaptability for profitable agriculture, is added the necessity, in order to avoid disease, to do that which ought to be done anyway, we hope that the farmers of the South will see their duty and perform it.

There ought to be a multiplication of corn field and grist mill in every Southern State.

DON'T HACK AT THE NEGRO.

Says the Rowland Sun: "The colored people in this section, many of them, have more money than they know what to do with, and consequently much of it is going for cheap liquor and pistols."

How did the colored people get the money? Worked for it, evidently. Raised cotton and then sold it, evidently. Why this sling because a colored man has honest money in his pocket? This is a sort of race criticism for which we have no use. What does the Rowland Sun know about such negro expenditure, and what has it got to do with it? If the money was that of idlers, vagrants, thieves, the comment might be excused. The Sun maks no such claims, and there is just the suggestion of unseemly envy about the comment it does make.

As a matter of fact, the man, black or white, who works for his money generally knows what to do with it. The decision is certainly his. The odds are that the "pistols and cheap whiskey" are in the main purchased by negroes who have not the title of labor for their wherewithal. At any rate, it comes with poor grace for a paper to criticize the negro for having money he has earned. The same paper would doubtless be the first to abuse him for not having money, had he not worked for it. "Tote" fair, and talk straight.

EX-GOVERNOR GLENN TONING DOWN.

They are evidencing some excitement because ex-Governor Glenn spoke at Memphis as follows: "If I were Governor of Tennessee, if I were Sheriff of Shelby county, or if I were Mayor of Memphis, I would see to it that open saloons were not run in Memphis contrary to the prohibition laws. I would put a gun in the hands of every worthy citizen and tell him to shoot, and shoot to kill, until I enforced respect for the law."

That is mild. They ought to hear the ex-Governor when he is really in earnest!

Hook-worm has been found in San Francisco. We always suspected the fly in those "dulce far niente" railroad advertisements.

In one contingency Bryan will have the sympathy of the country should he determine to run again. That is, if the talk of the Democratic candidacy of Judge Dickinson proves to be something more than the vapor it now indicates.

Newspapers and Increased Cost of Living.

(Monroe Journal.)

Col. John R. Webster, who publishes Webster's Weekly up at Reidsville, says in a recent issue of his paper: "Nowhere is the increased cost of living felt more sensibly than in the country newspaper office. The editor cannot move up the price of his paper as easily as the merchant does the price of his provisions."

That's Colonel Webster's view of the matter. The Enquirer wants to go on record in saying that its publishers have published a paper when cotton was 4 1-2 cents a pound, and chickens were 8 cents a piece, frying size, and eggs 7 1-2 cents a dozen and meat 6 cents a pound and if there is any one thing the folks in this print shop earnestly pray for it is that the days of those low prices may never, no never, return.

Those low prices meant hard times to the ones on whom the very life of the country depends and therefore it meant hard times for all. Give us the day of 15-cent cotton, 25 to 35 cent frying size chickens, 25 cents a dozen eggs and 12 1-2-cent meat in which to run a country newspaper. In the days of low prices there was complaint of inability to take a paper, there was the statement time after time that there was not a dollar left as profits on the products of the farm—and it was the truth—and the people did not have the money to spare for literature. The man who sells his bale of cotton for less than $25, as was done just a few years back, wants to quit everything, wants to cuss everything out, and the editor of his newspaper gets a double portion of hard luck story and catches it right between his head and shoulders. When a man gets $75 for a bale of cotton, as is the case now, when everything from field, garden and barnyard is bringing good prices, when he gets more for his cotton seed than he got for his corn a few years ago, he feels good, feels like paying every cent he owes and to publish a newspaper in such times, we are free to tell you, is better than it was when prices were low.

We have not heard a hard luck story from a subscriber in so long that we have almost forgotten how it sounds. People are taking more papers now than ever before in all the history of newspapers, and they are able to pay for them and are doing so. There is room for others, so come along and we will join in the prosperity chorus.

Welcome, Mr. President.

Every latch string is out, and we come with a shout
To welcome the Chief of the land!
We're glad you're here, and we give you good cheer—
Mr. President, here is our hand.
While we may not agree on some points, as you see—
Opinions will differ, you know—
Yet we meet you today in our Wilmington way;
Hospitality shall overflow
We are decked in our best to welcome our guest,
And we'll do it in every line,
That our President see what a welcome can be
In the Land of the Long Leaf Pine.

How we wish you might stay something more than a day,
And take a short rest while you're here;
But since you may not give more to our lot
We'll concentrate in it a year.
We want you to know that we grow, and we grow—
That the once sleepy town is awake;
That we do not depend on the historic end
Of our city our future to make.
Look us up on the map, when you're back at the Cap'
And remember our parting line,
That a strong welcome went to our big President
From the Land of the Long Leaf Pine. —ED B. MOSS.

CURRENT COMMENT.

In some parts of the country municipal reform seems to have been Tuesday more in the air than in the ballot. —Richmond News Leader.

One beauty about the Rockefeller hook worm gift is that the South won't have to raise another million to get it. —Durham Sun.

But Mr. Gompers is not yet in jail. The spectacle of sending such a man to jail while the trust robbers are given subsidies and their attorneys given seats in the cabinet will not be edifying.—News and Observer.

George Ade says he has more money than he can spend. "We suggest", says the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, "that he start a Republican paper in Texas." Or give a million to fight the bookworm in Boston, Mass.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

If the South demanded and got her fair share of the Republican protective bills that are passed, and if the West demanded and got the same thing, the Northeastern Tariff Association would lose interest in the institution of protection. Then we might get genuine tariff reform, which would be found in a horizontal bill for revenue, with only incidental protection fair to all sections. The South has been "easy" for a long time, but she is waking up now.—Norfolk Landmark.

Dr. H. T. Bahnson returned last night from Columbia, S. C., where he attended the pellagra convention. Dr. Bahnson was seen at the station by a Journal reporter. He declared that the convention was a magnificent success; that the physicians realizing the gravity of the situation, were very much in earnest. The significant thing about the convention was that it was decided that bad corn bread was the only known cause of the dread disease. The convention was composed of many of the most brilliant physicians in the South, about 300 being present.—Winston Journal.

At Charlestown, W. Va., the city council has taken a peculiar position. Some time ago it refused to grant any licenses for the sale of liquor, thereby making the town nominally dry. Now it has modified its action so far as to grant a license to the local brewery. The brewery people solemnly promise that they will not sell any of their beer in Charlestown or in any dry territory. So it appears that while Charleston as a matter of morals believes it is wrong to have beer sold to her own people, she believes it right to have the beverage sold to the benighted residents of license territory. And the question is, how bad is the beer, that Charlestown is willing to have it consumed elsewhere but herself will not consume it?—Richmond News-Leader.

NASH COUNTY MAN DEAD.

Mr. J. M. Daniels Passed Away Near Rocky Mount.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 5.—After suffering for several days, following a yellow chill, Mr. J. M. Daniels, a prominent Nash county planter and citizen, died last night shortly after midnight at the home of his son, Mr. Joe Daniels, near this city. The deceased was 62 years old and leaves a wife and nine children, three daughters and six sons, all of whom either live in this city or Nash county. From the home this afternoon at 3 o'clock the funeral was held by Mr. H. D. Williford, of the Primitive Baptist Church, after which the remains were taken to the family burying ground.

THESE are great times we are living in; the mystery of aerial navigation seems to be just on the edge of being solved; a few years more and we'll be traveling through the air with as much unconcern and security as we now ride in a railroad train.

Progress seems to be the dominant idea of the times; new discoveries, new triumphs of science; new wonders all along the line. But when you come to clothes—and we all have to come to clothes, every day, and probably will for a good many years—when you come to clothes you'd better come here and get into a

RED MEN'S BIG CARNIVAL

List of Attractions Announced Yesterday—Several Free Attractions. Fourth and Castle the Scene—"Tag Days."

Mr. J. C. Simpson, business manager of the Barkoot Carnival Company, which will furnish the attractions for the Red Men's Carnival next week, was in the city yesterday completing the detail arrangements for the big event. The scene of the carnival will be corner of Fourth and Castle streets.

This division of the company will open the season in this city. Prof. Elton's London Ghost Shows arrived a day or two ago and the other attractions will arrive Sunday afternoon on a special train from Columbia, S. C. Included in the other attractions are: Captain Lewis' Shows, Prof. Brown's famous flea circus, Sancho, the deep sea diver, Berlin's Aztec Twins, Smith's Darktown Swells, William's Electric Palace, Count Teddy, said to be the smallest midget in the world, the Human Roulette Wheel, the Steam Carousel, the Mammoth Ferris Wheel, Jumbo, the big snake, Congress of Nations, Simpson's Country Store, and Smith's Crazy House. Mr. Simpson says that each and every attraction is clean and devoid of any objectionable features and will cater to the best class of people. The best of order will be maintained on the grounds at all times. The members of Eyota Tribe of Red Men, under whose auspices the carnival will be held, extend to the public, including ladies and children, a cordial invitation to patronize the shows.

The free attractions will include two high dives daily by Nick Carter, the high diver, who plunges from a high platform into a receptacle filled with water, and the aerial trapeze work of Porter Bros. The Royal Italian Band, which gave so much pleasure to many Wilmington people last year, will be here again with the company and in addition to furnishing music on the carnival grounds will give two concerts a day down town.

The carnival will open Monday afternoon and continue through the entire week. The attractions for the most part are entirely new in this section and the grounds will doubtless be swarmed with people during the engagement here.

Chairman W. L. West, of the Red Men's committee, announced yesterday that Monday and Tuesday will be "tag days" for the benefit of the Red Men. Two prizes will be offered, one to the young lady tagging the most people and the other to the one tagging the next highest number. The prizes are now on display at Honnett's jewelry store on Front street. A large number of young ladies are expected to enter the contest and they will do no little amount of tagging, especially on Tuesday.

NEWSPAPER MEN'S SMOKER.

Many Acceptances to Invitations—Will Be Notable Event.

The smoker which the Publicity Committee of the Taft Day celebration will give next Tuesday night complimentary to the visiting newspaper men from this and other States will be one of the most notable features of the big event. Judging from the number of prominent newspaper men who have already notified Secretary R. L. Boyd of their acceptance of an invitation to be present there will be a fine gathering of the journalists. Among those who will be here are: Major J. C. Hemphill, editor of Charleston News and Courier; R. M. Phillips, associate editor Greensboro News; R. W. Vincent, managing editor of the Charlotte Observer; H. E. C. Bryant, Washington correspondent of Charlotte Observer; Wade H. Harris, editor of Charlotte Chronicle; Henry Bagley, manager of Raleigh News and Observer; J. V. Sims, publisher of Raleigh Evening Times; Editor Gantt, of Whiteville News-Reporter; H. H. Hamlin, editor of Beaufort Outlook; S. F. Thompson, editor of Lee County Times; L. A. Beasley, editor of Monroe Journal, and R. B. Branch, editor of Red Springs Citizen.

FALSE PRETENSE CHARGED.

James McLaurin, Colored, Given a Hearing Yesterday Afternoon.

James McLaurin, colored, was given a hearing before Justice George Harriss yesterday afternoon on the charge of false pretense, the warrant being sworn out by Mr. E. A. Orrell, a fisherman on Masonboro Sound, who alleges that the negro obtained advances of money and goods from him in 1908 upon the promise to do some work which he failed to perform. The negro was arrested late Thursday afternoon by Constable W. B. Savage and he gave bond for his appearance at trial. He was represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq. After taking testimony had been concluded a continuance was granted until this afternoon when Mr. McClammy will cite some Supreme Court decisions to support his contention that the negro should be found not guilty. Thos. K. Woody, Esq., will repreesnt Mr. Orrell this afternoon.

Paid Costs and Attorney's Fees.

William Holden, colored, a stevedore, was before Justice Harriss yesterday morning on the charge of assault with serious injury upon George Allen, colored. It appears that Allen accidentally struck a piece of iron, which was against a post at the compress, with the result that the iron fell to the floor and struck Holden on the foot. Holden then kicked Allen on the nose, Holden claiming, however, that he was kicking at the piece of iron. The matter was disposed of by Holden's paying the costs and the fees of Allen's attorney, Walter P. Gafford, Esq.

LIGHTING SCHEME A SUCCESS

Front Street Ablaze With Numerous Tungsten Lights—Hundreds Watch the Effect—A Great Advertisement.

The "Great White Way," for which Chairman B. O. Stone, of the Light Committee of the Board of Aldermen, has been working quietly but persistently ever since his induction into office last June, is now a reality. The lights were put in service last night for the first time and there were hundreds upon the streets to watch the effect of the brilliant illumination. Their ejaculations of delight must have been gratifying to the Alderman.

As previously stated the "Great White Way" extends from Grace to Orange on Front street. There are 20 arches in add, four to the block, with 11 Tungsten lights to each arch. The arches are therefore placed about 100 feet apart. The effect can be easily imagined but not so easily described. The street is made almost as bright as day.

The illumination is a permanent thing. While installed primarily for the Taft celebration Alderman Stone at a recent meeting of the Board of Aldermen secured the permission of that body to maintain the lights until the end of the fiscal year next June and the Board of Audit and Finance at a later meeting concurred in the proposition. The installation cost about $1,000, half of the expense being borne by the Tidewater Power Company and the remainder by the Decoration Committee of the Taft Day celebration. The expense of maintaining the lights will be borne by the city.

Ever since he began his term as Alderman Mr. Stone has been figuring with the Tidewater Power Company for a "Great White Way." However, the cost of installation was so great that he deemed it unwise to urge the matter before the Board of Aldermen until the committee began making arrangements for decorating the city for the Taft celebration. He learned that the city would not be put to any expense to install the lights and then he took up the proposition again and pushed it to a successful conclusion. Mr. Stone was out to watch the effect of the new scheme last night as well as hundreds of others and he was warmly congratulated for having secured the power to continue the illumination permanently.

The weather last night was ideal and the crowds on the streets reminded one of some festival occasion. There were in the crowd men, women and children who had noticed in the papers that the lights would be put in service last night.

As an advertisement for Wilmington the illumination is one of the best schemes that could be devised, for the amount of money involved. The first impressions are said to be the best and most lasting. Visitors entering a city shrouded in darkness cannot be favorably impressed and despite many other advantages of the town he will go away feeling that there is something sadly lacking. On the other hand, if he is greeted with a well lighted thoroughfare he feels that he has entered a city of importance, a city in which dwells citizens of energy and push and who take pride in their town. Several cities of the South have recently tried the illumination as an advertisement and they are gratified with the success of the experiment. The only possible criticism of the "Great White Way" is that it doesn't extend to the railroad station, but it is hoped this will follow later.

Arches will be installed on Market street, between Front and Second, just as soon as the material arrives. It is hoped that they can be put up Monday, but this is not certain. It is very likely, too, that other streets will later be illuminated in the same manner.

FOR THE BOAT RACES.

Judges Held Meeting Yesterday Noon. Prizes Announced.

The committee of judges for the boat races to be held on the river Tuesday as one of the features of the big Taft celebration held an important meeting yesterday noon at the office of the chairman, Mr. H. McL. Green, and decided upon the rules and regulations governing the event. There were preesnt Chiarman Green and Messrs. R. G. Rankin, Jr., W. D. MacMillan, Jr., L. Hanson, L. H. Skinner and E. P. Bailey. It was decided among other things that no one boat will be allowed to win more than one prize.

A resolution was adopted that the $75 for prizes be divided into three parts; $35 for the free for all race, $25 for boats over 30 feet in length and $15 for boats less than 25 feet in length. All boats will be required to enter for the free for all in order to qualify for the other two events. Boat owners who expect to participate in the races are requested to notify Mr. Green, the chairman, before 10 A. M. Monday. All boats will have to be numbered for the races and numbers will be furnished by the committee.

The boats will be required to report at the stake boat, off Market street dock at 10:30 A. M. Tuesday. The course will be from the stake boat around the buoy at Point Peter, thence around a red buoy off the Dram Tree, and return around the buoy off Point Peter, thence to the stake boat line. The usual rules for fouls, etc., will be strictly observed.

A prize of $50 will be offered for the best decorated steam or motor boat. Owners are granted the privilege of using any form of decorations deemed attractive or appropriate. The prizes will be awarded by the committee of judges.

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For indigestion, loss of appetite, kidney trouble, lame back, female complaints, it's unequaled. Only 50c at R. R. Bellamy.

PREPARATIONS FOR MR. TAFT

Plans Reviewed by Secret Service Man—Committee Forced to Abandon Reception—One Other Change in Programme.

Mr. L. C. Wheeler, the personal representative of President Wm. H. Taft, spent yesterday in Wilmington and reviewed the plans of the central committee for the entertainment of the Nation's Chief Executive upon the occasion of his visit here next Tuesday. With two exceptions the programme arranged was entirely satisfactory to Mr. Wheeler. At his request the central committee had to abandon the idea of a public reception, and instead of speaking to the colored school children in the afternoon President Taft will review them in the morning while en route to the Seminole. They will be massed in Peabody School yard next to St. Stephen's Church and the President will review them there.

A meeting of the central committee was held at noon yesterday in the office of the chairman, Mr. H. C. McQueen, at which the changes desired by Mr. Wheeler were made. The following communication was received from Mr. Wheeler:

"Wilmington, Nov. 5th, 1909.

"Hon. H. C. McQueen, chairman, Taft Central Committee, City.

"My Dear Sir:—Acting under the instruction of Fred W. Carpenter, secretary to the President, you are respectfully advised that the public reception to the President on Tuesday, Nov. 9th, will have to be abandoned entirely.

"During the early part of the President's Western tour he undertook to meet as large a number of people as time and opportunity afforded, but he was obliged to discontinue this practice about the middle of September on account of the great physical exertion and necessary fatigue involved.

"I sincerely hope that your committee will understand and appreciate the necessity of eliminating this part of your programme.

"I have the honor to remain,

"Very respectfully yours,

The abandonment of the reception was generally regretted, but the committed had to bow to the inevitable. Since there is to be no public reception the supper arranged for the Presidential party and a few other invited guests will be given in the Masonic Temple as originally announced. It was decided Thursday to give the supper in the City Hall building but at that time it was thought a reception would be held there also.

Mr. Wheeler suggested that it would be preferable to have the President review the colored school children in the morning instead of addressing them at St. Stephen's Church in the afternoon as planned. Accordingly it was decided that the colored children should form at some point on the line of the parade in the morning. There was no change in the programme to have the President review the white children in the morning. They will form a living flag on Market, between Third and Fourth streets and this will undoubtedly be one of the most novel and unique features of the day.

Fifteen mounted police officers will act as an immediate escort to the President. Five will precede the President's vehicle and five will ride immediately in the rear, while the remaining five will be at points in close contiguity to the President. A practice was held yesterday afternoon and attracted a large crowd as usual.

It was suggested that all business houses in the city close at 1 o'clock in the afternoon so as to give the employes the opportunity of joining in the celebration. There will not, of course, be much business during the afternoon and the salespeople and other clerks should be permitted to join the happy throng. It is generally hoped that the business men will adopt the suggestion.

An attractive souvenir badge has been gotten out for the executive, reception and the several other committees and the members are requsted to call at the office of Thos. D. Meares, Jr., Esq., clerk of the central committee, in room No. 12, Garrell building and receive them. The badges are attractive in design and bear a splendid picture of the President with suitable lettering.

Mr. Wheeler was here until 7 o'clock last night when he left for Richmond, Va., to review the plans made there for the entertainment of the Presidential party. He was in conference practically all day with members of the central committee and he was very much pleased with the programme, except the features noted above. He came here from Columbia, where he approved the plans in toto. This is said to be almost unheard of, for in some cities Mr. Wheeler insisted upon an almost new set of plans. With the exception of Columbia fewer changes were made here probably than at any other point.

GIVE CLERKS A CHANCE.

Movement for Stores to Close at 1 P. M. on President's Day.

A movement, which it seems should succeed, was started yesterday among the merchants of the city to close all places of business in the city at 1 P. M. on next Tuesday, the day President Taft is here. It is well pointed out that clerks and other employes have worked unusually hard in decorating and making other arrangements for the great celebration and it would be a hardship upon them to ask them to stay shut up all day while the rest of the city and all the world so far as Wilmington is concerned, is taking the "day of" to "see and hear" the President. It is true that many people from out of the city will be here to trade that day, but as is well said, most of the trading will be done while the President and his party are down the river and all the afternoon will be given up to the "big show." There will be little doing in the stores naturally and it would seem the part of consideration by employers for their employes to let them off for this brief respite on the one day that comes but once in a life time.

ACCOMMODATION COMMITTEE

Work is Now About Completed, But More Homes are Needed Out of Abundance of Precaution. Headquarters Open.

A meeting of the Accommodation Committee for the Taft celebration was held last night at the office of the Chairman, Mr. Thomas H. Wright. At this meeting the various members of the committee who canvassed the city for home for visitors handed in their reports, and the committee feel that it can safely assure every visitor who desires to spend the night or several nights a comfortable stopping place.

The report of the canvassers, however, show that there are more accommodations for men than for ladies, and the committee is very anxious that every family in the city that can take a visitor will do so and report this to the Chairman, Phone 342 at once.

The Railroads have arranged to run some ten or fifteen special trains into the city and every indication is that the crowds will be larger than aws first anticipated. it is, therefore, very important that every housekeeper in the city who can undertake to care for a few boarders will do so, and notify the committee at the earliest possible moment.

The Committee would also like the housekeepers to bear in mind and notify the committee, if after the first visitor leaves they can take another in his place.

Telephone has been installed in the headquarters of the Committee at Second and Princess streets, this number being 248

Members of the Accommodation Committee will meet every incoming train to direct strangers to their headquarters, from which they will be assigned boarding places.

Special guides will be on duty at headquarters to direct strangers to their assignments, so that no one will have any reason for getting lost or be put to any unnecessary trouble

Mr. Henry G. Fennell will be in active charge of the headquarters and that in itself is assurance that no hitch in the arrangements will occur.

A large double face banner is suspended across Front street near the Union Depot, to direct strangers to the headquarters of the committee; another banner is suspended across Front and Princess streets, and still another in front of the Garrell Building.

The committee is working hard and everything possible will be done to secure the comfort of the visitors, and it is now up to the citizens to bear their part of the duty.

Open your homes to them at your own price, although you have not previously taken boarders and it may be distasteful to you, is the parting injunction of the committee.

The committee has visited every house, and has done all in its power to get the people to take in the visitors, but still feel that they will have need for a great many more homes.

It is hoped that every one will feel the importance of this and that the responses will be numerous.

WRITE ECONOMIC ESSAYS.

Prizes Are Offered Through University of Chicago to Students.

The opportunity to write economic essays for cash prizes has been brought to the attention of students of the University of North Carolina by Professor J. Laurence Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest. The prizes amount to $2,000 and are given by Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

The subjects for the essays cover such important questions as the effect of labor unions on international trade, the best means of raising the wages of the unskilled, protectionism in the United States, a scheme for an ideal monetary system, the relation of the central government to trusts, a central bank as a factor in a financial crisis, and other vital economic problems.

These contests have been held for the last six years and some of the essays produced by American students have been so well regarded that they have been published in book form. Some of these essays have attracted widespread attention and contributed materially to the economic literature of the day.

The papers for the prizes are to be submitted before June 1, 1910. Contestants are divided into three clases, as follows:

Class "A," first prize, $600; second prize, $400.

Class "B," first prize, $300; second prize, $200.

Class "C," one prize, $500.

Classes "A" and "B" refer particularly to colleeg men; class "C" is open to anyone, whether with or without an academic training.

The members of the committee, aside from Professor Laughlin, are Prof. J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Prof. Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City, and Edwin F. Gay, Harvard University.

FUNERAL OF MR. FOSGATE

Services Here Yesterday—Interment in Auburn, N. Y., Sunday.

The funeral of Mr. Frederick Fosgate was held from the late residence 111 South Fourth street, at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. A. W. Seabrose, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral designs and a large number were sent by express yesterday to Auburn, N. Y., where the interment will take place Sunday. After the service the body was tenderly borne to the union station and taken on the 7 o'clock train last night to Auburn, N. Y., accompanied by Mr. William Fosgate, a brother of the deceased, who arrived from New York State yesterday morning. Mrs. Fosgate, wife of the deceased, was physically unable to stand the trip. The pallbearers to the train were: Honorary, Messrs. Preston Cumming and W. A. Dick; active Herbert McClammy, Esq., Dr. W. E. Storm, Messrs. W. J. Craig, John French, Eugene Beery and M. C. Hammond.

RUMOR CREATED INTEREST.

Report That President Roosevelt Had Been Killed in Africa.

The report that gained currency all over the world yesterday, ostensibly from a dispatch from London, that President Roosevelt had been killed by a "man eating" lion in South Africa, caused the most intense interest in Wilmington, not only because of the import of the tragedy Nationally, but because many people believed, and perhaps correctly, that should the report prove to be true, it would be "all up" with the Taft celebration here next Tuesday. The report spread rapidly over the city and the newspapers weer besieged with requests for information if the story were true. As soon as the Associated Press dispatch wire opened, the definite information came that there was no truth in the rumor and a great weight was lifted from the shoulders of those who have been anticipating with so much pleasure the visit of Mr. Taft. The telephone bell in the Star office was kept a-jingle until a late hour last night with the inquiry, "What about Mr. Roosevelt and the lion?" It was a pleasure to tell all that the "strenuous one" had not only not been eaten alive, but that the Taft celebration would come off as advertised. In several of the larger cities North the report was so persistent and apparently so well authenticated that many of the papers issued extra editions, proclaiming the story from London.

STEAMERS FOR COTTON.

Two Due to Arrive Today—Will Decorate for Taft Event.

Steamers in port to receive cotton from Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son for foreign markets will decorate on next Tuesday in honor of the visit of the President. All of the vessels here are trading under foreign flags, but the captains gladly consented to put on United States colors for the event. There are at present five in port, one of which will clear today, but with the arrival of two more there will be a total of six when the President comes.

The two steamers expected today are from Philadelphia and Savannah. Cotton receipts at the port since the first of November were not equal to the same period last year according to statistics posted at the Chamber of Commerce this week. However, the crop year to date shows a considerable increase as indicated in the statistics the first of the month.

FUNERAL OF MR. DONNELLY.

Impressive Services Held Yesterday Afternoon from Residence.

The funeral of Mr. Samuel J. Donnelly was held at 4:30 o'clock yesterhis daughter, Mrs. E. D. Warren, 520 his daughter, Mrs. E. Warren, 520 Nun street, conducted by Rev. K. D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth street Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. G. A. Martin pastor of Southside Baptist Church. There were present a large number of relatives and friends and theer were many floral designs. Special music was rendered by a quartette from Fifth Street Methodist Church, composed of Messrs. Albert Dosher, Walter Moore, Mrs. J. L. Davis and Mrs. L. O. Ellis. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. L. M. LeGwin, S. R. LeGwin, J. H. LeGwin, W. E. Yopp, James L. Donnelly and E. D. Warren.

THE BASKET BALL LEAGUE.

Second Games of Season at the Y. M. C. A. This Evening—Decorating.

The basket ball games at the Y. M. C. A. have proved a feature of the athletic events this season and the second games in the League schedule will be played in the gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock. The game will be between the Cardinals, Capt. L. Hanson, Jr., and the White Socks, Capt. F. L. King; Giants, Capt. T. K. Kessler, and Pirates, Capt. H. M. Kendall. The games will be hotly contested and the public is invited to attend.

The regular meeting of the directors of the Association was held Thursday evening and besides other matters taken up was the decorating of the building for the Taft celebration. The secretary was authorized to decorate in a suitable manner for the event.

FOOTBALL GAME TUESDAY.

Wilmington and Kinston High School Teams Will Play Here.

A gridiron contest will be one of the many features of the Taft Day celebation next Tuesday. The Wilmington and Kinston High School teams will contest for supremacy at League Park Thursday morning, beginning at 11 o'clock. The Presidential party will be down the Cape Fear river while the contest is on and it is expected that the game will be witnessed by several hundred people. The Tidewater Power Company will provide an ample car service. Owing to the small crowd to witness the game between Wilmington and Goldsboro last Saturday the football management fell behind $25 and it is hoped that this deficit will be made up Tuesday, besides defraying the expenses of the Kinston team.

Mr. O. W. Brady Was Released

Before Justice T. M. Williams, at Southport, Monday, O. W. Brady, a white man, was given a hearing on the charge of shooting J. V. B. Simmons, watchman at the Waccamaw Lumber Company's camps, several weeks ago. The justice held that there was not sufficient evidence to show probable cause and dismissed the case. A large number of witnesses were examined. W. J. Bellamy, Esq., of this city, and Cranmer & Davis, of Southport, represented the defendant and Robert Ruark, Esq., of Wilmington, appeared for the prosecution, the Waccamaw Lumber Company.

GOOD PEANUT SEASON.

High Prices on Local Market—First North Carolina Peas.

The season for North Carolina peanuts opened yesterday and a quantity were sold on the local market, bringing exceptionally good prices, Messrs. J. S. Funchess & Co., quoting 85 to 90 cents a bushel for No. 1 hand picked. According to the statement of Mr. Funchess indications are that they will reach $1.00 by the first of December. In some sections a short crop is reported, but it is the opinion of Mr. Funchess that the crop for this variety of peas will measure up to the average.

Spanish peanuts during the past week have sold for the highest price during the season, according to Mr. Funchess, bringing from $1.00 to $1.20 per bushel for the best variety. From reports, growers in the surrounding section brought in a good quantity.

Special Sermon to Trainmen.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will attend St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in a body Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock when a special sermon by request will be preached by the pastor, Dr. McClure.

CO-OPERATIVE B. & L.

Opens New Series Today—Many Shares Have Been Subscribed.

If the Wilmington public can read, they are fully informed by this time that the new series of the Co-operative Building and Loan Association opens today. This association is managed by progressive business men who believe that if you have a good thing—one that will be of value to others, that it is doing a friendly act, besides being of great value, to tell the public about it. Therefore, they use printers' ink, as do all the big institutions which means the successful ones. Mr. William E. Worth is president of the Co-operative and Mr. B. C. Moore the vice president.

The Co-operative has over four thousand shares throughout the city and their business is so large that it requires the attention of a number of clerks. The secretary of the Co-operative is Mr. Thos. H. Wright, and the assistant secretary, Mr. Robert H. Northrop. The office is 124 Princess street.

Only 1,000 shares will be sold in the new series, and subscribers are requested to call in the morning to get their books, thereby avoiding the rush.

There are all classes, kinds and conditions of people, representing every Nationality and race in the Co-operative. From the boy with one share to the business man with over a hundred. From the woman who saves 25 cents a week to those who save many dollars, all are welcome and treated in a courteous business-like manner. The Co-operative loans the money for homes—$1,000 for every share and has greatly aided the steady and continual growth of Wilmington.

Recent Building Permits.

Permits have recently been issued from the office of Building Inspector H. E. Bonitz as follows: M. D. Brown, two-story eight-room house on Seventh, between Church and Castle; McNeill Bros., contractors; estimated cost $875. Bellwill Cotton Mills, one-story three-room house on corner of Wooten and Surry streets; Reville & Reville, contractors; estimated cost, $300.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch, of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for coughs and colds, it dispels hoarseness and sore throat. Cures grip, bronchitis, hemorrhages, asthma, croup, whooping cough. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

The annual meeting of the Wilmington Sub Division of the Red Cross Society will be held next Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the parlors of the Colonial Inn. Officers will be elected for the ensuing term and important business will be transacted. The executive board held a meeting yesterday morning at the residence of Miss Lillie Brown, on North Third street, at which matters that will be brought up at the annual meting were discussed.

The Home Science Department of the North Carolina Sorosis held a largely attended and interesting meeting at the Public Library at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The feature of the meeting was the reading of an article from McClure's magazine on the hookworm, a disease that is now claiming much attention of the scientific world and in which there is added interest on account of the recent gift of $1,000,000 by Rockefeller to conduct a hookworm campaign.

A most delightful social meeting of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church was held last night in the lecture room of the church. There were a large number of young people present and the evening was a most enjoyable one. The following very attractive programme was rendered: Reading by Miss Mattie Maulsby; piano solo by Miss Jesse Lupo; reading by little Miss May Kingsbury; vocal solo by Miss Lula Morrill; reading by Miss Marie Fennell; vocal solo by Miss Elizabeth Schulken. Following the rendition of the programme dainty refreshments were served. The pleasureable event was arranged by a committee consisting of Miss Nellie Pickard, chairman; Misses Jennie Stanland and Rosa Meredith and Mr. C. P. Scott.

A delightful moonlight drive and oyster roast, complimentary to a party of friends, was given Thursday evening by Mr. J. Atwell Bowden and Mr. Leonard Gore, and proved a decided feature of the Indian Summer outings. The party consisted of eight couples and were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Green. The party drove down the shell road to Masonboro Sound, where they partook of a delightful oyster roast and spent a most pleasant evening. Those in the party were: Misses Lillian Taylor, Marie Boney, Lillian Stanland, Lucile and Mary Reilly, May Hall, Mable and Nellie King, Messrs Earny Hearn, R. E. McRary, J. A. Bowden, Preston Scott, Clyde Andrews, Leonard Gore, W. L. Whitted, Herbert Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Green.

The thirty-ninth annual ball of the South Carolina Club was held in the hall of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol in Columbia, S. C., Thursday night and was a brilliant affair as those preceding have been. Miss Bessie Gore, of Wilmington, who is a guest of the Misses Heyward, in Columbia, was one of the few visiting young ladies in attendance. Yesterday's Charleston News and Courier contained a five-column description of the ball and the gowns, and the following appeared with reference to Miss Gore, of this city: "Miss Bessie Gore, of Wilmington, N. C., wore a gown of yellow satin of mellowest tint, which was individual and attractive, because of its simplicity, the draperies of the skirt falling in long, straight lines, the only garnishing being the exquisite band of gold which bordered the neck. She carried golden chrysanthemums."

PRETTY WEDDING WEDNESDAY IN LUMBERTON, N. C.

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 5.—A pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Sheriff and Mrs. E. C. McNeill. The contracting parties were Miss Flora McNeill and Mr. Dennis Walter Biggs. The guests were received in the hall by Mesdames E. C. McNeill and G. T. Cox and Miss Berta McNeill, and were ushered into the parlor, where Miss Katie McNeill and Miss Mamie McKay, the latter of Red Springs, received. The parlor was simply but beautifully decorated with ferns and roses. As Mendelssohn's March was played by Miss Rebecca Ward, Miss Josie McNeill, maid of honor, entered with Mr. Arch. Ward, best man. They were followed by the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Baker. During the ceremony Miss Ward softly played "Hearts and Flowers." The bride wore a traveling gown of gray and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore an afternoon gown of red and carried red carnations. After the usual congratulations the bride and groom, accompanied by Misses Josie McNeill, Rebecca Ward and Messrs. A. H. McLeod and Simeon Caldwell, left for the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Biggs, a few miles from town. All but the bride and groom returned last night. Mr. and Mrs. Biggs will return to Lumberton the last of the week and will board for the present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Biggs, on Pine street, where they will be at home to their friends after the 7th inst. After the 1st of December they will go to housekeeping in Dr. J. D. McMillan's old home on Fifth street. Mr. and Mrs. Biggs have a host of friends who follow them with their best wishes. The presents received were numerous and handsome. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Biggs, parents of the groom, of Saddle Tree township; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McNeill and Mrs. Jno. McCallum, of Rowland; Mrs. G. T. Cox, of St. Pauls; Miss Mamie McKay, of Red Springs.

AN APPEAL FOR GARMENTS.

Salavtion Army Can Find Use for All Old Clothes and Shoes.

Ensign Williams, of the local post of the Salvation Army, states that if there are any persons who have any old garments and shoes which are no longer of use to them the Salvation Army can use them to good advantage among the poor people of the city. He says that there are many in Wilmington who cannot keep comfortable for the lack of sufficient clothing. The Army will be glad to receive garments of any description for infants, children and grown-ups of either sex. Gifts of this nature should be sent to the Army Hall, 27 North Front street, over the offices of the Tidewater Power Company.

NEGRESS BADLY BURNED.

Clothes Caught Fire From Overturned Lamp—Chance to Recover.

Lillie Evans, colored, was very seriously burned yesterday morning at her home, 1112 Chesnut street, when a lamp was overturned. The flames kuicqly spread to the woman's clothes and she was fearfully burned before her cries for help brought assistance. She was carried to the James Walker Memorial Hospital, where she is being given attention. It was stated at the institution last night that while the woman is badly burned she has a chance to recover.

Will Decorate Fire House.

The Decorating Committee of the Taft Day celebration denied the request of the Police and Fire Commission to decorate the fire house at corner of Fourth and Princess streets, on the route of the parade, but the building will be handsomely decorated anyway. When the proposition was turned down by the Decoration Committee with a statement that there were no funds for the decorations Chairman W. E. Springer, of the Police and Fire Commission, ordered that the building be appropriately decorated and this will be done under the supervision of Chief Schnibben. The other Fourth street fire station is not on the route of the parade and will not be decorated.

Seaboard Will Pay Taxes.

The Seaboard Air Line notified Sheriff Cowan yesterday that the railroad would pay the taxes on certain property in this city, valued at $55,000 about which there was a controversy. The money will be forwarded to the Sheriff at once. The State and county is entitled to receive $434.50 in taxes on the property and the city $770. It is presumed that the Corporation Commission has agreed to deduct the amount from the valuation of the property listed with the commission by the railroad.

WON BY SUMTER COMPANY.

Charleston Command is Second in Prize Drill at Columbia.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 5.—In the military prize drill held at the State fair grounds today, the Sumter Company won first prize of $300, and the Sumter Guards, of Charleston, captured the second prize of $100. The contest was spirited and was witnessed by a large number of spectators.

A DRAMATIC SUICIDE.

Shot Himself While Orchestra Played "While Love Dies."

Paris, Nov. 5.—A man who is believed to be either an American or an Englishman, dramatically committed suicide in a Mont Martre cafe tonight. He had asked the orchestra seven times to play the waltz, "When Love Dies," and as the last srtains died away he placed a pistol to his head and shot himself dead.

A cablegram signed by Professor Willis L. Moore, president of the National Geographic Society, was sent tonight to the University of Copennagen annuoncing that the Society is about to send representatives to Copenhagen and requesting that they be given the courtesy of attending the official examination of Dr. Cook's papers.

The balloon Melba III, with Captain John Berry as pilot and Miss Julia Hoerner as aide, ascended at St. Louis late Wednesday in an effort to lift the Lahm cup. Miss Hoerner is qualifying to act as a licensed pilot. Enough sand and provisions were carried for a four days' trip.

George F. Putney, a wealthy planter of Albany, Ga., announces a gift of $25,000 to the Albany hospital which is to be named for his mother and of $5,000 for the local Y. M. C. A. One-fourth of the gift to the hospital is to be used to provide accommodations for negroes.

Coughs and Colds.—At this season when coughs are so prevalent, an effectual remedy, and one easily obtained, is Perry Davis' Painkiller. It is no new nostrum, vended by unknown agents, but has stood the test of over seventy years; and those who use the article, internally or externally, will connect with it grateful recollections of its worthy inventor.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The Tidewater Power Company announces that beginning tomorrow the Carolina Place car will run through tothe union station at Front and Red Cross streets on each trip instead of turning back at Front and Princess streets as at present.

—In noting the phenomenally large yield of Irish and sweet potatoes from the farm of Mr. J. O. Grimes, in East Wilmington, yesterday, it was stated that the crop of Irish potatoes was sold for $2.50 to $2.75 per barrel. As a matter of fact the potatoes were sold for $4.50 per barrel.

—Some unique souvenirs of the Taft day celebration have just been placed on sale at the store of the Gerken Tobacco Company. They consist of mammoth cigars, "quality guaranteed" bearing fine likenesses of both Mr. Taft or, in case the predilections of the smoker are the other way, of Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska. "You pay your money and take your choice."

—The Recorder convened his court yesterday morning as usual, but no cases were tried, the defendants asking for a continuance until today. There were only three cases, one against Nick Faison, colored, for assault with serious injury upon his wife, and two charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

—The Southport Herald of Thursday says that at the regular meeting of the Brunswick County Commissioners Monday the matter of calling an election for the purpose of voting on the question of issuing bonds to aid in the construction of South Atlantic transcontinental railway was continued by request until the December meeting. Some decisive action will probably be taken at that time.

—Deeds were filed for record yesterday as follows: Charles Dushan and wife to Mrs. Jennie M. Howard, for $4,875 and other considerations, 10 acres of land in Cape Fear township, near the Imperial Pine Product Co. tract, on the road from Wilmington to Sam Blossom's ferry; Frank G. Harriss to Jean H. Delano, for $10, 18 acres of land in Cape Fear township on the south side of Northeast river and the west side of Sturgeon creek.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Mr. P. M. Holmes returned Thursday night from Raleigh, where he attended the State Fair last week.

—Among the guests at The Orton yesterday were: Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bodwell, Sanford; Guy I Buell, Spring Hope; J. W. Tramwell, Ellensboro.

—Southport Herald: Mr. Cronley Ruark returned from Wilmington yesterday and has acepted a position in the Bank of Southport, having entered upon his duties yesterday."

—Southport Herald: "Mr. Bennie D. Robbins returned from the Georgia Military Academy at College Park, Ga., last Friday, having been one of the large number of students which were suddenly taken ill there, supposedly from ptomaine poison."

The National Geographic Society it was stated by a member of that organization tonight, stands ready to honor Dr. Cook witn a medal similar to the one conferred upon Commander Peary if he can prove as clearly as the latter did that he reached the north pole.

Only Seeking Information.

The average New York boy is not a wonder of wit and wisdom, but most of them know a good thing when they see it. Also the contrary. Not long ago one of them saw a sign in front of a Sixth avenue place, "Boy Wanted." He was looking for something of that kind and walked in. There was nobody in sight, and he stood gazing. Presently the proprietor, a most grouchy person, appeared.

"What do you want here?" he inquired with scant courtesy.

"Well," replied the boy, disturbed by the man's manner and hesitating, "do you want a boy here?"

"That's what the sign says, don't it?" snapped the man.

"Yep," responded the boy, getting his second wind.

"Then we want a boy."

"Aw right," grinned the boy, backing away. "You git one. You can't have me," and he wiggled his fingers at the man and went out quickly.—New York Herald.

Tire Themselves Getting Ready.

Washington Irving tells a story of a man who tried to jump over a hill. He went back so far to get his start for the great leap and ran so hard that he was completely exhausted when he came to the hill and had to lie down and rest. Then he got up and walked over the hill. A great many people exhaust themselves getting ready to do their work. They are always preparing. They spend their lives getting ready to do something which they never do. It is an excellent thing to keep improving oneself, to keep growing, but there must be a time to begin the great work of life. I know a man who is almost forty years old who has not yet decided what he is going to do. He has graduated from college and taken a number of postgraduate courses, but all along general lines. He has not yet begun to specialize. This man fully believes he is going to do great things yet. I hope he may.—Success Magazine.

The Paper They Were Written On.

The average author would probably laugh at the statement that at one time in the world's history manuscripts, simply as such, irrespective of the nature of the text, were immensely valuable. In ancient times manuscripts were important articles from a commercial point of view. They were excessively scarce and were preserved with the utmost care. Even the usurers were glad to lend money on them when the owners were obliged to offer them in pawn. It is related in an ancient tome that a student of Pavia, who was reduced by his debaucheries, raised a new fortune by leaving in pawn a manuscript of a body of law, and a grammarian who was ruined by a fire rebuilt his house with two small volumes of Cicero through the ready aid of the pawnbroker.

The Theatre

Today will bring to a close the present splendid bill at the Crystal Palace and this will mark the end of one of the best vaudeville offerings ever made at this popular theatre. No doubt, large audiences will greet the farewell performances this afternoon and tonight. As an extra feature tonight two handsome crayon drawings, the superb work of Artist Wise, are to be presented to two lucky people. Two boxes of the Red Band brand of candy will also be given to two ladies.

"The Servant in the House."

No other play of modern years has won international fame so quickly or so swiftly raised its author to an enviable position in the foremost ranks of living playwrights as Charles Rann Kennedy's famous drama, "The Servant in the House," which will be seen at the Academy next Tuesday and Wednesday. Produced in Washington a year ago last March, it has become the subject of newspaper comment all over the country before the end of its first week. It was put on in New York the following week and created a veritable sensation on blase Broadway. The day after the opening in New York the newspapers were full of the remarkable drama which, as some of the critics expressed it, presented Christ on the stage. As a result of the furore created by extensive newspaper and magazine discussion, "The Servant in the House" settled down to a record-breaking run that lasted through the Spring and Summer, notwithstanding the intense heat that prevailed on Broadway. The play was moved across the continent to San Francisco and reepated the New York triumph on the Pacific Coast. From San Francisco it moved into Chicago where it played to capacity business for ten weeks. Hundreds of people were turned away at the box-office during the last week in Chicago, notwithstanding the fact two extra matinees were put in to accommodate the overflow. The enaggement in Chicago was cut short to permit the Henry Miller Associate Players to return to the Savoy Theatre in New York for a second run that lasted until the end of the year.

Seats will go on sale Monday.

At the Bijou Today.

"Pippa Passes," or "The Song of Conscience," is the feature picture of today's programme at the Bijou. The picture portrays the poetic thoughts of that eminent English poet, Robert Browning. In this picture the film makers present a most artistic subject and handled, it is claimed, in a manner never before excelled, with keen appreciation of its poetic and dramatic value; photographically perfect, and comprising many novel effects never before attempted.

At the recent Synod at Red Springs, The Presbyterian Standard was made the subject of consideration as a special order. We are told in a report that "Rev. Dr. P. R. Law, the editor, spoke briefly, excusing himself from speaking many words because he was its editor. He said in part: The circulation had come to be twice as large as it was fifteen months ago. It was growing now more rapidly than ever before. The Synod had declared earnestly it must have an organ or a paper published in its borders at the time The Standard was in a state of collapse, and talk of its sale and removal was going on in serious strain. A few men had put their money and their time into it and by self-denying labors had rescued it and placed it on its career of present growth and high promise." It was stated that this paper ought to have 10,000 subscribers. It would be to the credit of the Presbyterians of North Carolina to give it that number and a few over. Under the management of Dr. Law The Standard is the best Church paper the Presbyterians of this State have had since the days of the old North Carolina Presbyterian under the editorship of John McLaurin. We do not know whether the Presbyterians of Charlotte are doing their full duty by this paper, but if there are any Presbyterian homes in the city without it—then they are not doing quite as well by the paper as they ought to be doing.—Charlotte Chronicle.

HOME ENDORSEMENT.

Hundreds of Wilmington Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Wilmington people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Wilmington reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

L. H. Patrin, 7 So. Fourth St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy for the kidneys as I used them and know whereof I speak. My back was very weak and lame and I was bothered by pains across my loins. The kidney secretions were highly colored, contained a sediment and were very painful in passage. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I concluded to give them a trial and procured a box at Robert R. Bellamy's drug store. They acted just as represented and it was not long before I was entirely relieved."

A PARADOXICAL PLAN

By HOPE HOPKINS.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Just previous to the opening of the American Revolutionary war a young Marylander named Edward Mower, having ruined himself financially at cards—gambling was very fashionable in those days—enlisted in a British regiment stationed at Baltimore. When the war came on Mower, whose sympathies were with the colonies, deserted and joined the patriot army. Taken prisoner at the battle of Monmouth, he was recognized as a former British soldier and a court martial ordered to try him for desertion.

While Mower was waiting trial he was lodged in jail at Trenton. One morning his cell door was opened, a young woman of about twenty years of age entered, and the door closed behind her. The prisoner looked at her in surprise.

"I have been admitted here for five minutes' conversation with you," she said, "by order of the commandant, I having claimed that you are a relative of mine, and I wish to give you some information to be used in your defense."

"But I never saw you before!" exclaimed the prisoner. "What information can you have for me?"

"None that will save you from conviction. I am told by those who know that you will be shot. I wish to aid you to escape. Here are some pellets containing a drug that will make you ill. Take one every hour for three hours. I wish to secure your removal to a hospital where I may be better able to serve you."

"But why this interest in me—a stranger?"

She was silent for a moment, looked at the floor, then said. "Do as I tell you and ask no questions."

Mower was making another effort to discover the cause of this remarkable incident when his cell door opened and the girl was summoned by the guard. As soon as she had gone he swallowed one of the pellets she had given him and in an hour swallowed another. The guard when he came to leave the prisoner's noon meal found him giving unmistakable signs of illness. Mower was carried to a hospital.

As soon as Mower got better he swallowed another pellet and another and another, renewing the doses every day. He overshot the mark, taking so many that one morning he was thrown into convulsions which ended in unconsciousness. When he came to himself again he found his body covered from head to foot with a sheet. He was about to throw it off when he heard footsteps and a few moments later the voice of a hospital steward say:

"He died in convulsions."

"When?" asked the surgeon's voice.

"Half an hour ago."

The footsteps were heard passing on. Soon Mower felt himself lifted by two pairs of arms and carried out from the warm to the cold air and laid on some hard substance. Then he heard a bolt shot, and all was still. Throwing the covering off his face, he saw that he was resting on a table in a vacant room. Beneath him on the floor was a corpse. He was in a deadhouse. There were two windows in the room, and from the light coming through them Mower knew that it was day. He dared not move for fear of attracting attention. He heard the town clock strike every hour from 11 to 7. Then it grew dark, and he determined to examine his surroundings.

The windows overlooked a shed, beyond which was a back yard, and at the farther end of this were trees. He waited till all the lights on the premises were extinguished, then stepped out of a window on to a shed beneath, let himself to the ground and ran to the back of the yard. Climbing a fence, he found himself in the back yard of other premises.

Mower was in night clothes and dared not enter a street lest he attract attention. He waited, shivering, till a late hour, then, making sure that no one was near, passed through the yard and stood looking up and down the street on which the premises faced. Hearing the watch approach crying "Eleven o'clock and all's well," Mower waited till he had passed, then ran like a deer till, reaching the town limits, he found himself in a wood. Seeing a house standing by itself and assuming that the inmates were patriots, he knocked and told his story. He was furnished with clothing and piloted by one of the family toward Morristown, where he entered the American lines.

Mower rose to the rank of major in the American army. The mystery of his escape was unsolved till the end of the war. Then one day he received an anonymous letter from Baltimore in a woman's handwriting announcing that if when he had occasion to visit that city he would call at a certain house he would be furnished with some information that would interest him.

Mower lost no time in making the journey, called at the house designated and was there received by the lady who had visited him in prison. The pleasure expressed in her face, a blush and shrinking, gave him the key to her motives. She had seen him when she was a girl of fifteen and had given him her heart.

"Your taking so much of the poison," she said, "spoiled all my plans. I had arranged another method for your escape from the hospital, but before I could put it into operation you had been taken away. But it is perhaps fortunate, for my own plan was necessarily far more complicated and might have miscarried."

NEVER before has there been devised a piano-selling plan that saves you so much money or offers such opportunities for free musical education as the Ludden & Bates Piano Club. Join it and you save one-third your piano money—$113—in cash. We sell you for only $287 an elegant cabinet grand piano equal to any $400 piano made, and include with it a complete course of instruction without a cent additional cost. You pay $25 when you become a club member and the balance on easy payments.

This wonderful club offer is due to our plan of selling 100 pianos at a time instead of one. By our plan it costs but little more to sell one hundred than to sell one; besides we are wholesalers and sell to you at the wholesale price, saving the dealer's profit—and all this tremendous saving in selling cost is divided with you.

The Ludden & Bates New Scale PIANO

is backed by a lifetime guarantee to be perfect in every respect—thousands of satisfied customers, many in your neighborhood, will tell you this.

You run no risks in joining this club. If the head of the family dies, we cancel the club contract and give you the piano without payment of another cent. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

The Ludden & Bates Club Piano is a full cabinet grand with special copper-wound and steel strings, perfect scale, light, even touch, genuine ivory keys. Magnificent cases of first grade walnut, mahogany or oak. Rich, clear, "singing" tone found only in highest grade pianos.

Write us at once for application blank and description of our club plan. Our experts will select any piano you desire and we'll stake our reputation on furnishing a perfect instrument, stool and scarf free. Write to-day, as club is now forming.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—It was another very excited day in the cotton market and fluctuations were extremely erratic. At one time prices showed a net advance of about 18 to 28 points but there was renewed weakness later with active months reporting the lowest figures of the day and with the close weak at a net loss of 4 to 30 points. The market opened irregular at a decline of 11 points to an advance of 5 points, most of the active months showing losses of from 11 to 15 points as compared with last night's close right after the call, as a result of enormous outside liquidation caused by yesterday's sudden break and consequent big calls for margin. But southern bull leaders were aggressive buyers during the early trading the national ginners report was bullish offerings gradually became smaller and after the end of the first hour the market developed a firmed tone. It looked as though many sold out bulls were replacing their cotton, while yesterday's sellers for a scalp were covering. At any rate January contracts sold up from 14.42 to low point of the morning to 14.73, shortly after midday while May advanced from 14.73 to 15 cents. This was soon followed by a second severe break owing to the fact that the support from bull leaders was withdrawn on the advance while early buyers turned for profits, and local bears became aggressive on the theory that liquidation was not yet completed and that the bulls had helped to make a calling basis.

The market closed with January quoted at 14.40 and May at 14.70 or 30 to 33 points below the best prices of the afternoon. Numerous southern advices reporting that interior holders were not following the decline in futures helped the improvement during the early afternoon and week end figures were bullish but the southern market officially reported early were 1-16 to 1-4c lower.

Receipts at the ports today were 65,264 bales against 74,867 last week and 87,666 last year. For the week 400,000 bales against 418,571 last week and at 485,809 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans were 3,938 bales against 11,192 last year and at Houston 12,569 bales against 22,910 last year.

Spot quiet 25 points lower; middling uplands 14.70; middling gulf 14.95; sales 500.

DICK BROS' COTTON LETTER.

New York, Nov. 5.—The action of the market today indicated that the selling of yesterday was more of a bear raid than liquidation by leading bulls. Undoubtedly the big longs lightened their load around the top, and they probably gave little or no support during the heavy selling late yesterday afternoon. Today they took a more positive stand and the support they rendered was sufficient to cause a fair rally.

Basic conditions have undergone no change, and the fact that spot markets in the South are not following the decline in futures is good evidence of the strength of the actual cotton situation. It is interesting to note that while cotton is up 6 1-2 cents from the prices prevailing a year ago, cotton yarns are up 8 cents in that period, which goes a long way toward showing that manufactured goods are practically on a parity with raw material. Wide fluctuations are to be expected, but we see no real evidence of weakness at present.

The weekly into-sight figures for the week are bullish, showing a decrease of 19,000 bales, as compared with last week.

DICK BROS. & CO.

LIVERPOOL STATISTICS.

Liverpool, Nov. 5.—Following are the weekly cotton statistics:

Total sales all kinds 46,000 bales; total sales American 39,000; English Spinners takings 88,000; total exports 6,000; quality afloat all kinds 413,000; quality afloat American 355,000; total sales on speculation 500; total sales to exporters 1,700; imports, all kinds 164,000; Imports American 153,000; stock all kinds 742,600; stock American 664,000; American forwarded 78,000.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—The cotton goods market holds very firm but trading is limited in consequence of the fluctuations in the cotton market. Buyers are applying themselves in many directions where mills will sell. Yarns have been marked considerably higher and a fair business is being done. The local wool market is firm with some fair transactions reported in pulled wools and mohair. The general jobbing trade is good.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—United States Steel fell into the background in the stock speculation today and the volume of the whole market suffered somewhat accordingly. There was some shift of speculative preference back into the old favorites, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Reading but the market on the whole relapsed into one of specialties and was given over to somewhat erratic and irregular movements. Yesterday's rumors that the listing of United States Steel on the Paris bourse was imminent failed of confirmation and were positively discredited in cabled accounts from Paris.

Pennsylvania securities including the stock and convertible bonds, showed further depression as an expression of the unfavorable view taken of the offering of the new stock at par to stockholders notwithstanding the apparent attractiveness of the subscription rights based on the market price of the stock.

The uncertain tone of the stock market was exebplified in the way in which prices crumbled away in the last few minutes of the day in the efforts to push realizing sales. The closing tone was decidedly weak.

Bonds were irregular with most of the activity in convertible issues, which were weak. Total sales, par value were $5,014,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Total sales of stocks today were 807,200 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—Money on call firm 3 1-2 to 4 per cent.; ruling rate 3 7-8, closing bid 3 1-2, offered at 3 1-2. Time loans firm, sixty days 4 1-2 to 4 3-4 per cent., and ninety days 4 3-4 per cent.; six months 4 1-2 to 4 3-4 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper 5 to 5 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange strong at recovery with actual business in bankers bills at 4.83 to 4.8320 for sixty day bills and at 4.8715 for demand. Commercial bills 4.82 1-4 to 3-4. Bar silver 50 5-8.

PETERSON & RULFS

is still going. Large crowds and liberal buying are the features. The low prices published in the large advertisements are still holding good.

New arrivals of rugs, pictures, imported dinner sets, tables, hampers, clothes baskets and several other articles have been added this week. Positively no such values ever seen in Wilmington. Call and inspect them if you wish to buy or not. We are pleased to show goods and invite comparison. This sale, as all our sales, is bona fide. No bluff, no hot air. Unequaled values our motto.

FARMERS AT GREENSBORO

Guests of State Normal—Also Visited Durham.

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 5.—This afternoon on a special train the delegates to the National Farmers' Congress now in session at Raleigh and Hon. James Bryce, the British Ambassador, arrived here. Mr. Bryce was the guest of the State Normal and Industrial College and made a short address to the students and a large number of citizens.

The visiting farmers were taken to the White Oak Cotton mill and shown through the mammoth mills at that place.

Major Charles M. Stedman delivered an address of welcome and after the party had been shown through the plants Caesar Cone, president of the mills, presented each visitor with enough denim to make a pair of overalls, and with a unique souvenir of the mills. Before reaching Greensboro the delegates accompanied by Ambassador Bryce spent a little more than three hours at Durham being given a hearty reception by the citizens of that place, the city having been gaily decorated for the occasion. The party was carried to the great tobacco factories located in Durham and shown through the establishments by the officials, who afforded the visitors every opportunity to thoroughly inspect all departments. Warehouses and business concerns of all sorts weer also visited and inspected. Amabassador Bryce spoke briefly before the faculty and students of Trinity college in the auditorium of that institution.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS.

Association of College and Preparatory Schools at Charlottesville.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—The 15th annual meeting of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States met at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, today, and was called to order by the President of the University of North Carolina. The attendance is large, and there was reported a balance in the treasury of $424, a rare occurrence in connection with an educational organization.

Dr. St. George L. Sioussat of the University of the South, reported from the committee on uniform entrance examinations; Prof. C. W. Kent, of the University of Virginia, reported on the National Conference in New York, on uniform entrance requirements in English, and Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, presented a report from the National Conferenc Committee on standards of colleges and secondary schools.

A paper on "Problems of undergraduate instruction and discipline," by Dr. J. H. Letane, of Washington and Lee University, brought the initial sessoin of the association to a close.

ROBBERS STILL AT LARGE.

Eight Suspects Arrested and Released. Daring Robbery.

Niagara Falls, Nnt., Nov. 5.—The two robbers, who yesterday struck down Cashier Dobson, of the Canadian Express Company, and escaped with $15,000 in cash, are still at large.

Eight suspects were rounded up. All were able to establish alibis and were released. The robbers evidently planned their escape with as much care as every other move in the daring robbery and are now believed to be across the border in the United States.

GOOD WAY TO DO BUSINESS.

In ordering a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents, J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., are giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Wilmington.

Even though offered at half price for introductory purposes the specific is sold under a guarantee to cure or the money will be refunded.

If food does not digest well if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, you have Druggists J. Hicks Bunting's personal guarantee to return your money.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny ganules, and can be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City, and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.

Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cures of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles.

MARYLAND CASE REVERSED.

Action Brought by Heirs of Hickey Heard in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—An opinion was handed down by the United States court of Appeals here today, reversing a former ruling in a case involving $35,000 bequeathed by the late Frederick Hickey, of Baltimore, to the First Spiritualistic church, of that city.

Mr. Hickey died in 1899, after providing in his will that a tract of a little more than 8,000 acres of land, owned by him in West Virginia, should be disposed of for cash and the proceeds of the sale donated to the Spiritualistic church in question.

Certain heirs of the deceased brought suit on the ground that the laws of Maryland forbid that a church can own more than a specified quantity of real estate. On being brought to trial the heirs won out on this contention. Counsel for the defendant church appealed.

It was held in the lower court that the gift of the proceeds of the land in question was equivalent to a donation of so much real estate. The appellate tribunal has reversed the lower court.

UNSUCCESSFUL TEST.

Class in Brown University Could Not Give Full Name of President.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 5.—None of the 24 members of Professor Wilfred H. Munroe's history class, at Brown University, composed of seniors and juniors, was able to give correctly the full names of the President of the United States, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Governor of Rhode Island, a Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, and the Mayor of Providence, when the questions were proposed as a test today.

Professor Munroe desired to make an experiment, based on the recent attempt to secure a constitutional amendment in Maryland, requiring from voters ability to answer correctly questions similar to these.

Eighteen of the 24 members of the class gave correctly the President's full name and two knew only his last name. No one succeeded in giving the full name of a Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Seventeen had a name partly correct. Seven could not give even the last name of a justice.

GINNERS' COTTON REPORT.

Say Small Yield is Due to Smallness of Bolls—Estimates.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 5.—J. A. Taylor, president of the National Ginners' Association, today issued the following bulletin:

"Complete returns indicate a maximum crop of 9,780,000 bales, not including linters or re-packs. Minimum figures 9,486,000. The heavy falling off is all over the belt except in Georgia and the Carolinas, where there is about as good a crop as last year on a little smaller acreage.

"Maximum reports by States: Alabama 969,000; Arkansas 644,000; 2,309,000; Florida 60,000; Total 9,780,000.

Georgia 1,870,000; Louisiana 239,000; Mississippi 958,000; Missouri and Virginia 58,000; North Carolina 648,000; Oklahoma 587,000; South Carolina 1,185,000; Tennessee 253,000; Texas

"The ginners say the small yield is largely due to the smallness of bolls and low yield of lint. As the crop is so near ginned we will probably not make out December estimate."

"TY" COBB IN ACCIDENT.

Narrow Escape From Serious Injury in Automobile Crash.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—"Ty" Cobb, of the Detroit baseball team, had a narrow escape from serious injury last nighth when his automobile was crashed into and partially wrecked by a car driven by Frank Zirbes, driver of the Pathfinder of the Journal-Herald good roads tour. Both men were returning from the new automobile speedway and had reached the crest of a hill just before entering the city, when Cobb yelled to Zirbies as he dashed past him. The latter set out in pursuit and in attempting to go between Cobb's machine and a street car, swerved and struck Cobb's car with terrific force. Only great presence of mind saved both drivers.

REED DIES AT WINSTON.

Merchant Accused Dymott of Crime. Suicide Belief.

Winston Salem, N. C., Nov. 5.—J. J. Reed, a local merchant found on the outskirts of town Monday of last week with a bullet wound in his left breast and on his right temple, died at the hospital today. Up to the time he lost consciousness on Wednesday Reed held to the belief that Ernest Dymott, a white man, who is in jail, shot and robbed him of $5.

Officers, however, have a pistol owned by Mrs. Reed, found a few feet from the wounded man and the belief is quite general that Reed shot himself. Dymott will be given a hearing tomorrow.

More than $25,000,000 is left to charitable instittuions in the will of John Stewart Kennedy, filed in New York yesterday. The entire estate is worth more than $60,000,000.

NOVEL MASSAGE CREAM.

Perfect Skin Food That Removes Wrinkles and Clears Complexion.

The most delicate skin will quickly respond to the soothing and tonic effects of Hokara, and when this pure skin food is used, pimples are soon a thing of the past.

As a massage cream or after shaving it is unequaled, removing all irritations, and making the skin soft and velvety.

Apply a little to the hands or face after washing and surprise yourself with the dead skin that comes off.

Hokara is the only massage cream that is an antiseptic, and pimples, eczema, and all skin blemishes soon disappear when it is used.

Although far superior to the ordinary massage creams and sold on a guarantee of "best you ever used or money back, yet the price is a trifle, only 25c for a liberal jar.

Sold on guarantee by J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co.

If the skin trouble is caused by impure blood or if the bowels are inactive, use Hokara Blood Tablets. They cool and cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels in a natural way.

GENERAL TRADE ACTIVE

Bradstreet's Report For the Week. Effect of High Price Cotton.

New York, Nov. 5.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Except for the fact that unsasonably warm weather tends to retard the fullest development of retail trade in heavy weight and Winter goods, the general trade and industrial report this week is one of widespread and increasing activity The same is true of industrial operations, iron and steel being as active as ever with outputs close to or in excess of the maximum coal is in increasing demand and lumber and other material is active. All this occurs with prices of commodities at a high level.

In the cotton goods trade, it is true, the very great advance in the raw material at a time of nearly record movement to market is a source of unsettlement. Many mills North and South have announced curtailment in time run. One effect of the high price of cotton is the report that some East India cotton has been figured on for import and that it can be laid down at some Southern cotton mill cnters at 11 1-2c below the price of the American product grown nearby.

Business failures for the week ending with November 4 in the United States were 212, against 217 last week and 205 in the like week of 1908.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending November 4 aggregate 5,397,455 bushels against 4,200,449 last week and 4,940,274 this week last year.

Corn exports for the week are 304,955 bushels against 516,448 last week and 812,584 in 1908.
